

RAIN CANCELS OUT WORLD SERIES GAME

NEW YORK (AP)—The fifth World Series game was postponed today because of rain after a delay of more than an hour. It will be played Wednesday at Yankee Stadium.

The postponement was the first in a series since Oct. 4, 1956.

The rainout simply shoved back the schedule of remaining games. After Wednesday's fifth game at New York, there will be an off-day for travel Thursday. The sixth game will be played in San Francisco Friday and the seventh, if necessary, Saturday at San Francisco.

(For full details of weekend games see Page 8.)

UN Uproar Over Cuba

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—United Nations delegates looked for more fireworks over Cuba in the General Assembly today.

DORTICOS
... blasts U.S.

They started Monday with the speech by Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos demanding that the UN condemn as an act of war any U.S. blockade of Cuba. It touched off a clash of demonstrators outside the UN buildings.

At the outset of his speech, Dorticos was heckled by cries of "murderer" and "degenerate" from spectators in the galleries, even though they were closed to the general public. All those admitted held tickets issued to them by UN delegations.

But loud applause, led mainly by Soviet UN employees who attended the session, also punctuated the speech.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, challenged by Dorticos to guarantee by deeds and not words that the United States would not attack Cuba, took the floor briefly.

He said the Cuban leader attacked the United States with "unparalleled calumnies, slanders and misrepresentation."

At a press conference later, he said Dorticos' statements were "neither original nor true."

He stressed that the United States would not attack Cuba but added:

"Let it be equally clear that the United States will not tolerate aggression against any part of this hemisphere."

Stevenson said U.S. economic actions against Cuba are not aggressive or warlike.

"It is the most normal and indeed the least violent way in which we can express our strong disapproval of the threats and sword rattling emanating from Cuba."

Dorticos asked the assembly to consider whether or not a U.S. naval blockade of Cuba would amount to an act of war. He asked whether the United States has had the right to take one-sided action "in contempt of the United Nations."

Opponents of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro went into action in the gallery at least five times. At the end of Dorticos' speech pro-Castro demonstrators unfurled a banner reading "Stop Kennedy, Hands Off Cuba."

UN guards hustled out about 20 demonstrators.

Then the pro- and anti-Castro demonstrators clashed outside the UN gates.

Police arrested 33 persons.

'Middle Road'

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Algerian Premier Ahmed Ben Bella today pledged his country to a policy of non-alignment in the East-West cold war.

In Algeria's first policy declaration as a member of the United Nations, Ben Bella said his government would work for peaceful co-operation among nations.

Three Killed Over Weekend In Island Traffic Crashes

THIS WAS SCENE on the Malahat Highway Sunday afternoon shortly after the third fatal accident which occurred on Vancouver Island during rainy holiday weekend. In this crash Mrs. Mabel Taylor, 2515 Shelbourne, died. She did not appear to be as badly injured as the other passengers and it is thought a heart attack may have been the actual cause of death. Three other passengers were taken to hospital. In other accidents two more persons died and a fourth was critically injured.

Mother of Six Among Victims

Three persons—a young boy, an older woman, and a 31-year-old mother of six children—met violent death on Vancouver Island highways during Thanksgiving weekend.

Dead are:
Mrs. Mabel Gertrude Taylor, 65, of 2515 Shelbourne.

Mrs. Muriel Graham, 31, of 2830 Sooke Road.

Michael Bowker, 13, of Ladysmith.

And the 31-year-old father of two children, Robert W. Boud, 2780 Spencer, lies in a coma critically ill, after a four-car pile-up at Wilkinson Road and the Trans-Canada Highway Monday afternoon.

It was the worst Thanksgiving weekend for highway deaths on Vancouver Island in recent years, according to an official of the motor vehicles branch of the provincial government.

Mrs. Taylor died as she was on her way to visit her daughter, Mrs. J. Frew, in Nanaimo Sunday. The name of the juvenile who drove the car in which she was travelling has not been released.

The small car was in collision with a station wagon panel driven by James R. James, 2661 Capital Heights, RCMP say Mrs. Taylor was not apparently injured by the accident. An autopsy was to be held today.

The accident occurred at 2:15 p.m. near Mill Bay, 11 miles south of Duncan at the intersection of the Trans-Canada Highway and Kilmalu Road.

Other passengers in the car were Mrs. Dorothy Cook, Norman Cook and A. H. Cook, all of Victoria. They were taken to hospital and Mrs. Cook was released later. This morning Norman Cook was reported to be in "fairly good" condition and A. H. Cook's condition was reported as "good."

A preliminary inquest is to be held tonight. No charges have been laid by police.

Mrs. Taylor came from England to live in Nanaimo 54 years ago. Formerly Mrs. T. J. Wood, she lived in Nanaimo for 34 years. For the past 20 years she resided in Victoria where she married the late George Taylor who died in 1960.

Michael Bowker, the son of Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Bowker of Ladysmith, was killed as a result of an accident at 10 p.m. Saturday near Ladysmith at the intersection of the Ladysmith Highway and Watts Road.

The car driven by his mother was making a left turn off the Old Chemainus Road when it was in collision with one driven by Fred Ramsey of Chemainus. No charges have been laid.

Three young friends of 13-year-old Michael, who were in the car with him, were unhurt. The boy was taken to Ladysmith. Continued on Page 2

Man Held In Death Of Soldier

A Work Point soldier is being held in custody by military police pending completion of an investigation into the death Sunday morning of a member of the First Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

Charles Grant, 20, of Cutknife, Sask., died at Naden Hospital at 10:15 a.m. Sunday—about 12 hours after a fight in front of 270 Ontario Street.

HEAD INJURIES

It is understood he received head injuries when he fell on a curb.

City police were late in starting an investigation as military police notified them of the incident at 4:30 a.m., 6½ hours after Grant was admitted to hospital.

An autopsy has been held and the contents of the dead man's stomach sent to Vancouver for analysis.

Coroner J. H. Moore is expected to hold an inquest as soon as police have completed their investigation.

Meredith Criticizes Army, NAACP

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—James H. Meredith, Negro student attending the University of Mississippi under federal guard, today criticized the U.S. Army and by implication the officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. (See also Page 7.)

In an interview he sought, Meredith complained the army had inflicted "a dishonor and a disgrace" on Negro soldiers by segregating troops brought into Oxford after the riot that attended his appearance here nine days ago.

His other complaint was against what he called "this inflammatory claim" by some people that he had been "picked, selected or chosen by them to integrate the University of Mississippi."

The president of the Mississippi NAACP, Aaron Henry, was reported earlier as saying Meredith was selected from a list of candidates for the desegregation move. Meredith denied this.

"I have good reason to believe that this and similar accusations have resulted in stronger opposition to me by the students at the university," Meredith said.

"If it were true, I must admit that I would think their opposition would be in some ways justified," he said.

Fleming Backs Legality Of Exchange Measures

OTTAWA — Justice Minister Fleming, former minister of finance, declared in the Commons today the government's exchange protection measures introduced after the June 18 general election by order-in-council were all soundly based on legislation passed previously by Parliament.

He spoke in the Commons throne speech debate in rebuttal to a non-confidence motion moved Friday by Liberal economist Allan J. MacEachen, MP for Inverness-Richmond, and special adviser to Opposition Leader Pearson.

The motion, on which the Commons is scheduled to vote tonight, claimed the government's austerity measures amounted to imposition of taxation without parliamentary authority.

The motion is virtually certain to be defeated. Social Credit leader Robert Thompson confirmed today that his party would vote against it.

Speaker Marcel Lambert warned Mr. Bouronnais three times against discussing provincial politics, after several Liberal MPs rose on points of order to claim infractions of the rules.

Mr. Bouronnais said that if the Lesage government is re-elected it will transform Quebec Hydro into "the largest network of patronage in North America."

He said Premier Fidel Castro of Cuba is the idol of Quebec Resources Minister Rene Levesque, whom he accused of "opening the door to Communist infiltration in this country."

Mr. Fleming contrasted the Conservative government's imposition of the 1962 program with that imposed by the former Liberal government in 1947 to overcome exchange difficulties.

He said the course of the Conservative government had been "clear and lawful," but the former Liberal government had imposed special taxes only on a promise to bring in validating legislation later, and had torn to shreds a promise that the old Foreign Exchange Control Act would be used only to control movement of capital.

"The taxes then imposed... were clearly illegal and were collected for weeks and months before they were validated by retroactive legislation."

The government saw no need now to introduce legislation to cover the program introduced on June 24 this year.

"There was no need to ask parliament to validate what was already valid."

Her husband Anthony has no qualms about having a bookie for a wife.

"She's been backing horses on her own since she was 14," said Rogers, "and she does very well at it. So, I don't mind if she wants to put my shirt on a horse."

Mrs. Rogers has picked out a site for her betting shop. "It's in the nearby town of Paignton on Wenner Street."

TRUNK MURDERESS Winnie Ruth Judd

Winnie Ruth Judd, notorious "tiger woman" of the 1930's, escaped from the Arizona State Mental Hospital Monday night, her seventh escape since confinement in 1932. The superintendent of the hospital at Phoenix said the 57-year-old woman, originally sentenced to death for the murder of her two room-mates, escaped through a door left unlocked accidentally.

"The taxes then imposed... were clearly illegal and were collected for weeks and months before they were validated by retroactive legislation."

WIRE BRIEFS

Nurses on Strike

ROME (Reuters)—Nurses, orderlies and other Italian hospital workers, excluding doctors and druggists, today began a two-day strike to press for better working conditions. Skeleton services were maintained for urgent cases.

Typhoon Hits East

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese bureau said Typhoon Emma hit Marcus Island with 121-mile-an-hour winds today and badly damaged its observation post there.

Volcano Threatens

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Nearly 4,000 persons have been evacuated from the area around the volcano Merapi in central Java following two ominous rumblings in the last 10 days. The evacuees will be resettled in Sumatra, the Pia news agency reported.

Tokyo Hoods Raided

TOKYO (AP)—Some 5,000 policemen made an anti-hoodlum sweep in Tokyo and 14 prefectures today. They arrested 913 persons and seized 128 weapons and 400 packs of heroin. The operation was aimed particularly at gangs dealing in narcotics.

Fog Cloaks London

LONDON (AP)—The first heavy fog of the autumn halted shipping in the Thames, slowed rail and highway traffic and closed down London Airport today.

Negotiations Continue

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. state department said today negotiations were continuing but no agreement had been reached so far for release from Cuba of 1,100 prisoners captured in last year's rebel invasion of Cuba.

Suicide Verdict

Riots in Kenya

Court Decision Delayed On Bid To Block Sons

VANCOUVER (CP)—Decision was reserved in the B.C. Supreme Court on an application by Kent municipality for an injunction that would keep trekking Sons of Freedom Doukhobors outside its boundaries.

Mr. Justice F. Craig Munroe said he would give his judgment and written reasons later.

Today's hearing was a continuation of a hearing that started last Friday when Kent made the application. Mr. Justice Munroe asked them to hear the Freedomites' side of the case.

Joe Podovinkoff spoke today for the Sons and two women and three men from the marching group, now camped at Hope, also appeared. They were not called on to testify.

"The group at Hope has very little understanding of this bylaw," Mr. Podovinkoff told the court today. "To them its implications are incomprehensible."

He said the Freedomites were determined to reach Mountain Prison but it had not been established whether they would actually attempt entry into the institution.

"If their brethren have to suffer, they want to be on the cross with them," he said.

Mr. Podovinkoff gave no indication how long the Freedomites would remain at Hope, but "if the wet and cold become intolerable, they may have to march."

QUITS CLASSROOMS TO MIX WITH PUNTERS

Teacher to Become Bookie

KINGSBRIDGE, England (AP)—A 25-year-old schoolmistress said today she is going to quit the classroom to become a full-fledged bookie.

"I've decided to give up teaching and concentrate on bookmaking," said Mrs. Jennifer Rogers.

For the last four years she has been teaching day school and working as a clerk-accountant for a local bookie in the evening.

"I've learned so much about bookmaking," said Mrs. Rogers, "that I've decided to branch out on my own. I shall make an application for a licence tomorrow."

Mrs. Rogers is believed to be the first woman to seek a licence as a full-time bookie.

She explained that holding two jobs and being married was too much for her and that bookmaking should prove more profitable than teaching.

Her husband Anthony has no qualms about having a bookie for a wife.

"She's been backing horses on her own since she was 14," said Rogers, "and she does very well at it. So, I don't mind if she wants to put my shirt on a horse."

Mrs. Rogers has picked out a site for her betting shop. "It's in the nearby town of Paignton on Wenner Street."

BEST BET—LADY AGGRESSOR

General Hospital and then to St. Joseph's Hospital in Victoria where he died at 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

An inquest will be opened tonight.

LOST CONTROL—Mrs. Graham was killed Saturday night when she apparently lost control of her car and it crashed into a ditch north of Parson's Bridge on the Old Island Highway.

She was pinned under the dashboard and the steering wheel. Rescuers worked frantically for five minutes before freeing her. She was dead on arrival at St. Joseph's Hospital. Light rain was falling at the time.

An inquest will not be held but an inquiry into the accident is to be made. The dead woman's husband, Bruce Graham, who was a passenger in the car, was taken to hospital with a broken jaw and wrist.

Mrs. Graham was the mother of five daughters and a son. Her eldest daughter is in high school and the boy, the youngest child, is two years old. Mr. Graham is a driver for Island Farms Dairy.

CROSSED LINE—The four-car pile-up in which Mr. Boad was hurt occurred at 4:54 p.m. Monday when the westbound car he was driving went out of control and crossed the centre line, colliding with an eastbound vehicle driven by Harold Snider, 317 Huntington Place. (See picture page 13.)

Both cars were then struck by an eastbound car driven by William Steirbaek of California. His car in turn was struck in the rear by one driven by Henry LeCorre, 903 North Park Street.

Mr. Boad was critically injured about the head. Mr. Snider suffered severe lacerations but was reported this morning to be in "fair" condition at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Asylum Sought In Canada By Dynamiter

TORONTO (CP)—Tadeusz Sipinski, who says he has been hunted through five countries since dynamiting a Communist ship in 1949, today sought asylum in Canada.

The man, a native of Poland, says he has spent the last eight months hiding out in Toronto flophouses and missions—ever since the department of citizenship and immigration ordered him deported.

He said he would be shot if he is returned to Poland.

Mr. Sipinski, on the advice of lawyer William Maxwell, gave himself up to immigration officers today.

"I will do everything in my power to see that he is not deported—particularly to Poland—without a full hearing," Mr. Maxwell said in an interview.

Mr. Sipinski said he has already been deported from the United States.

In broken English, the 43-year-old Pole told in an interview a story of intrigue, sabotage, shootings, and ship-jumping.

STARTS IN PRISON

The cloak-and-dagger operations started in a Polish prison where he was sentenced to be shot by a firing squad. The death sentence resulted after he and three other men dynamited a ship in Danzig harbor.

"After nine months in prison my break came," he said. "I was being moved from one prison to another in a jeep. There was an accident. The guard with the Tommy gun was pinned and I escaped into the woods."

Friends smuggled him to Hamburg where he got a ship to Argentina. He had been there a month when four men offered to drive him home from a party. Instead they took him aboard a boat bound for Poland and locked him in a small cabin.

As the ship passed through the English Channel, he jumped overboard about 14 miles from Dover.

His captors fired shots at him and he was hit in the neck. He eventually was picked up by an English fishing boat and taken to hospital.

GIVEN ASYLUM

The British home office granted him asylum and he got a job on a British merchant ship.

Waiting

Earlier, he told a press conference that Social Credit MPs sided with the government because they were waiting to see whether the Diefenbaker government was going to introduce measures aimed at ending Canadian austerity.

At the Burnaby meeting, Mr. Caouette ran an almost constant battle with a large group of hecklers. At one point the meeting stopped when five Social supporters left their seats to argue with one heckler. The heckler shouted: "You are a fascist, Caouette."

STOPPED AGAIN

It took several minutes to calm the meeting, attended by about 750 persons.

Mr. Caouette's speech was stopped again when an elderly man in the front row collapsed in the excitement. The man was revived a few minutes later.

The Quebec party leader said Social Credit MPs are going to Quebec's financial mess.

Premier Lesage officially opened the Liberal election campaign Sunday in Shawinigan, home of the largest of 11 privately-owned hydro-electric companies the party proposes to expropriate.

He said the television debate will centre on the "issues at stake—public ownership of electricity and the economic emancipation of French-Canadians."

Mr. Johnson spoke at Acton Vale in his home constituency of Bagot.

"This is not an election of nationalization but an election of taxation," he said. "I challenge Mr. Lesage to produce the financial statements he is deliberately hiding until after the elections."

VANCOUVER (CP)—Social Credit members voted against a Liberal non-confidence motion in the House of Commons because they are not going to choose Pearson over Diefenbaker, deputy national Social Credit leader Real Caouette said Saturday night.

He told a noisy meeting in Burnaby-Coquitlam riding the "old line" parties are both tied to "money interests" and there is little to choose between them.

BERLIN

'One More Slice Off Salami'

By CARL HARTMAN

BERLIN (AP)—The Western allies apparently have decided to do nothing except protest the refusal of East German guards to let a British Army ambulance go to the aid of a man shot just across the Berlin wall. The Russians refused to accept the protest Monday.

The East German action was seen as a blow to Western prestige in Berlin.

"Just one more slice off the Berlin salami," said one West Berliner.

Western officials were reluctant to predict what further action might be taken. From their remarks it seemed unlikely that anything would be done.

Some pointed out that the East Germans could halt all Western traffic unless the allies gave it armed escort. The allies did that with some military vehicles last October when the East Germans began stopping allied cars. The East Germans backed down after the Russians and the Americans each rushed tanks up to the wall.

Mayor Willy Brandt's Socialist party said Soviet vehicles should be banned from West Berlin in retaliation for the East German action.

CITE TREATY RIGHTS

The allies in their protest charged that interference with the ambulance was a violation of their war-won occupation rights in all of Berlin. The Russians, in refusing to accept the protest, gave their usual comment that the matter was one for East Germany's Communist regime. The allies refuse to treat with the satellite government, which they do not recognize.

East German guards Monday night apparently killed two East Germans trying to swim the Spree River to the West. The mother of one of the men trying to escape saw the shooting from the western bank and collapsed.

West Berlin police said one swimmer apparently was hit by the border guards and drowned. A witness said he saw a second swimmer with his feet in the air, either hit by the gunfire or diving to avoid it.

Hours afterward neither swimmer had arrived in the West and two East German patrol boats were searching for the bodies.

Uganda Gains Self Rule

KAMPALA, Uganda (Reuters)—Uganda's independence celebrations were formally climaxed today when the Duke of Kent handed over constitutional instruments signifying the end of Britain's 68-year-old rule over Africa's newest independent nation.

The duke handed over the documents to Prime Minister Milton Obote in the huge stadium here where some 50,000 Ugandans had cheered wildly at midnight as their six-striped black, yellow and red flag replaced the Union Jack.

Obote told the crowd at the morning ceremony in the stadium he was particularly happy at independence because it had been achieved in peace and goodwill.

Uganda remains a member of the Commonwealth. He paid tribute to Britain's "wise and so manifestly successful" guidance.

AIRPORT RESIDENTS ALLOWED TO SUE JETS

SEATTLE (AP)—Persons living near the Seattle-Tacoma International Airport may sue to recover the taking of "air easements" over their heads for use by jet planes.

Such was the ruling handed down by King County Superior Court Judge Henry Agnew. He limited the ruling to jet aircraft, however, saying propeller-driven aircraft have been present longer than the 10-year limitation, after which a right of usage is established.

But claims can be made against the jets, he said. More than 190 residents south of the airport said they would file $500,000 worth of claims as a result of noise caused by the big jets.

Russian Blackmail Forced Betrayal?

LONDON (Reuters)—William Vassall, 38-year-old former British admiralty employee in Moscow, confessed betraying British information after Russian officials compromised him with photographs of sexual acts, it was alleged in a court here today.

Vassall, who is accused of two offences under the Official Secrets Act, was quoted by the prosecution as saying that in Moscow he was taken to dinner by Russians, plied with strong drink and photographed in compromising sexual acts.

Prosecutor Mervyn Griffith-Jones read to the crowded Bow Street Magistrates Court Vassall's alleged statement recording his experiences in Moscow.

The statement said Russian officials showed Vassall the photographs and threatened to arrest him and make an international incident of the affair unless he told them of his work.

"I had no alternative," the statement said. Vassall, it was alleged, said he handed the officials documents, some of which would have been secret.

Vassall, a London parson's son, has been charged with recording and communicating information "to the prejudice of the state."

He was ordered to appear in London's Old Bailey criminal court for trial after today's preliminary hearing. The trial date was not set immediately.

'Cyanide Killer' In German Court

KARLSRUHE, West Germany (Reuters)—A confessed Russian secret agent went on trial Monday for the murder of two prominent anti-Soviet Ukrainian exiles with a cyanide gun.

Bogdan Stashinski, 30, a handsome Ukrainian-born Soviet citizen, was charged before the West German Federal High Court with murdering Lev Rebet and Stefan Bandera by spraying cyanide in their faces with a poison pistol.

Rebet, a writer, was killed in October, 1957, and Bandera, chief of the Organization of Ukrainian Nationalists, was killed two years later.

Stashinski fled to West Berlin Aug. 2, 1961—the day the Communists walked off East Berlin—and told West German police he had committed the murders on the orders of the Soviet Secret Service.

GUARDED BY POLICE

Monday, some 60 uniformed police and plainclothesmen guarded the courtroom against possible attempts to silence him.

Stashinski is alleged to have waited for his victims on staircases and sprayed cyanide in their faces. They appeared to have died from heart failure but, in fact, the poison had paralyzed their lungs.

A post mortem showed mysterious traces of cyanide in Bandera's body but Rebet's death was attributed to heart failure.

Stashinski told the court his first encounter with the Russian Secret Service came when he was 19 and was caught travelling on a train without a ticket.

He said he was given a choice of going to jail or joining the secret service.

He told pre-trial investigators he and his wife fled to the West after finding microphones hidden in their Moscow apartment.

B.C. Doctors Must Pay Income Tax, Court Rules

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada has ruled that a number of B.C. eye doctors must pay income tax on $30,000 they received for an optical company they sold in 1947 to a Toronto optical company.

The court rejected an appeal by Dr. John Archibald McLean, one of the eye specialists involved, against a judgment of the Exchequer Court of Canada upholding a decision of the tax appeal board.

Dr. McLean and 19 other practising eye specialists in British Columbia owned Prescription Optical Company. The Exchequer Court said it presumed that this company had lenses ground by Imperial Optical Company of Toronto.

Imperial's wholly-owned subsidiary, Standard Optical Company Limited, bought Prescription Optical in 1947, agreeing to pay the shareholders off in 10 annual instalments.

The revenue department argued that the payments were taxable income and rejected a claim by the doctors that the amounts they received were instalments on the sale price of a capital asset.

Dr. McLean appealed to the tax appeal board against the revenue department ruling. In rejecting Dr. McLean's appeal, the board said the transaction between the doctors and Standard Optical was not a bona fide sale of shares in Prescription Optical Company. "What transpired," the board said, "was no more than an ingeniously contrived scheme to pay extra sums of money for a period of 10 years to the co-operating doctors and thus to assure a continuing rich volume of profitable business to the Toronto optical organizations..."

TIRE EXPLODES, KILLING MAN

FULTON, N.Y. (AP)—Orrin Wallace, 28, of Fulton, a service station employee, was killed Monday when a large truck tire on which he was working exploded. The explosion threw him 12 feet into the air, and his head broke the glass of an open overhead door. Police said the tire exploded under air pressure.

Violence In Algeria

ALGIERS (AP)—French authorities today reported a wave of violence against Europeans in the Oran area of western Algeria.

The area is controlled by the regular troops of Col. Houari Boumedienne. The French sources said the acts of violence apparently were committed by bands of roaming guerrillas who have penetrated from other parts of the country.

The violence included the fatal stabbing of a woman and the kidnapping of a German auto mechanic. Another European kidnapped last month was found shot to death.

The Mid-Term Test

IN A LITTLE LESS THAN FOUR weeks the United States will have passed through the convulsion which is called the mid-term election. The results will be vitally important to President Kennedy, who makes no secret of his need for more Democratic seats in the House to carry out his legislative program.

Since there is no effective sieve along the 49th parallel to strain out repercussions, the outcome will be of some significance also to Canada.

It is not surprising, at this time, that both Democrats and Republicans predict gains. What is surprising is the modesty of their predictions.

Ordinarily the party of the President loses some ground in the off-year tests. But a number of elements in the coming poll make prediction difficult for the most experienced observers. Next month voters will mark ballots within new districts set up for this election and others to follow it. This change, in itself, could reduce the authority of forecasts predicated on the respective party showings in 1960.

Moreover, while Kennedy popularity runs high according to important polls, a question arises over the way the undecided voter will swing on different issues — the Cuban problem among them.

Of more recent date, the integration trouble at the University of Mississippi, and the strong stand by the Kennedy administration to force admission of Negro student James H. Meredith, registered with substantial impact on the "solid South."

No one will be surprised if the southern Democrats, reacting to tradition and emotionalism, reveal themselves to be more southern than Democratic and demonstrate an antipathy toward the administration at the polls.

Such a possibility could, of course, be offset by increased popularity for Mr. Kennedy's party in the northern industrial areas, where the Negro vote has established its importance.

The Mississippi issue assumes particular importance in the mathematics of national politics which ascribe to the Democrats 194 safe seats, including 92 in the South.

But elections of this nature, veteran analysts point out, are usually settled by the direction taken by between 100 and 140 "swing" seats, seats which cannot be considered safe and which can go either way.

Further adding to uncertainty next month is the record of the presidential election year. Generally, the party whose standard-bearer is elected President carries into office a sort of bonus number of house members. In 1960 this pattern was broken. The Democrats, electing John F. Kennedy, lost 20 seats in the House.

As a matter of form, both parties publicly express anticipation of gains in the coming election. The politicians not bound by that convention are varying the theme. Some of them confess that they are in the dark to a greater extent than ever before because of "redistricting."

Add to possible turns in public sentiment since 1960 on various foreign policy questions, the effects of the Mississippi trouble and innumerable local issues which frequently decide the vote, and the mid-term election becomes a horse-race.

Canadians, watching from the sidelines, and appreciating the current administration's broad policy for freer trade—though not necessarily applicable to this country's forest products—in contrast to the implied protectionism of the Republicans, are very interested, possibly anxious, observers.

The Closing Gate

REFUSAL TO LET A BRITISH army ambulance into East Berlin and restriction of a British officer's movements in the city appear to have constituted a clear breach of the East-West agreement on Berlin. Western authorities should have free access to the Eastern part of the city, since in theory the joint command of Berlin still exists.

In refusing the ambulance entry last week, East Berlin border authorities went beyond a rejection of humanitarianism; they brought the issue of the wall into clear relief in a direct violation of the Berlin agreement.

Negotiation Is Not Surrender

SPEAKING AMONG FRIENDS, as distinguished Englishmen do when they address the Pilgrims of the United States, Lord Home, Britain's foreign secretary, has laid gentle emphasis on a point which escapes some citizens of his host's country.

The outstanding member of Mr. Macmillan's cabinet had expressed the view that the world is heading toward genuine East-West coexistence, but that much work remains to be done by the Anglo-American alliance to achieve that goal.

Having expressed that belief, Lord Home said he was confident that it will be possible to negotiate with the communists without being Whether this had been planned or whether it arose as an emergency measure following the shooting of a West Berliner on the Eastern side, is not clear. But the incident brings one step closer the moment when the ultimate showdown must take place in Berlin.

There will come a point at which the West must decide whether to back down or go forward. It will be a moment which Mr. Khrushchev has threatened many times but which neither side can welcome since it may lead to war.

"soft" on communism. To this he added the useful comment: "I suppose that the idea that negotiation is equivalent to surrender is a survival of Munich. It isn't so."

Under more normal circumstances, such a truism need not have been voiced. Under conditions as they exist in some circles within the United States this restatement should be valuable. At a time when the so-called "ultras" of the right, the John Birchers included, talk of preventive wars, see communists under every bed and spread their doctrine that no trust is possible in their "enemies," Lord Home's quiet reminder should help to soothe a dangerous hysteria.

The Unanimity of Feeling in Mississippi Has to Be Experienced to Be Believed

By GODFREY HODGSON, From Oxford, Miss.

JAMES MEREDITH, the Negro student, has begun his studies at the University of Mississippi. The rowdies who converged here from all over the state and from Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana, and even Texas, have gone. General Edwin Walker, who was arrested on charges of incitement to insurrection, has been sent to a medical centre to undergo a psychiatric examination.

The trial of strength between the federal authority and Governor Ross Barnett, which resulted in two people being killed, has ended in the only possible way—a federal victory.

But what about the long-term results? Can Meredith be protected? What will the effect of the Oxford riots be on relations between the South and the rest of the nation? And what are the political implications for the Kennedy administration, which came to power only with the help of Southern voting loyalty to the Democratic name?

The unanimity of feeling against Meredith and against the President in Mississippi has to be experienced to be believed. This is not Tennessee or North Carolina, where the march of the 20th century has changed Southern mores, and a growing body of opinion accepts the inevitability of Negro integration.

There are some in Mississippi who feel that it was wrong to defy federal authority. One lone Congressman said so—but he has been defeated at the polls already and is a "lame duck."

There are others who are ashamed of the rioting, like the girl student I saw in the office of the university newspaper as the wounded were being brought in. With tears streaming down her face she told me: "I'm ashamed I ever came to Ole Miss."

But nobody wants Negro integration; or at least nobody dares to say so. Hardly any Negroes, even, want it. They are too poor, too cowed, too drained of potential leadership by emigration; more than anywhere else in the country, they follow Uncle Tom.

Many whites would go to any lengths to stop integration. I passed carloads of thugs driving up from Jackson to the riots last Sunday night, all flying the stars and bars of the Confederate States, and some flying the skull and crossbones, or sporting crude placards about "Government of the Pope, by the Kennedys, for Meredith."

Near Oxford there were signs nailed to trees simply saying "Kill Meredith."

Practically every Mississippian I talked to took it for granted that Meredith would be killed, sooner or later. Some said it with glee; some sadly, but with certainty. And this was not only the thugs who took their shotguns to the campus, threw Molotov cocktails, and aimed driverless cars at the un-hated Yankees, since the elegance was armed federal marshals. What passes for the gentility of the district said exactly the same.

There can be no hope of true integration for Meredith. He can stay on campus, he can go to classes. But he will have to be guarded indefinitely, as he is now, with 60 armed men, and searchlights sweeping the building where he sleeps.

He is a brave man; and it would be a brave man who would sell him life insurance.

The crisis at Ole Miss has demonstrated, and probably deepened, the extraordinary solidarity of the whites of the Deep South. This solidarity can only be understood if it is realized that they think of themselves not as the oppressors of the Negroes, but as a minority that has been, and still is being, oppressed by the North.

There is neurosis and fantasy in this belief—but it is genuine. They are obsessed with pride for their history as soldiers, both against and, later, in the armies of the Republic; for their tradition of elegance, and for their sovereignty.

Since they have had to fight for the hated Yankees, since the elegance was almost wholly mythical, and since the sovereignty was lost 97 years ago, a degree of neurosis is not surprising.

The Mississippi National Guard is proud of its record in the Pacific and in the Korean war—for which it enlisted more volunteers and won more medals than any other state. It obeyed this week when the President called on it, though some thought they were going to Cuba.

There was bitterness in the voice of the young major who reminded me of the motto of the 155th, one of the regiments called to Oxford. The motto is "Stand Fast, Mississippi!" and it was given to the regiment by Jefferson Davis, president of the rebellious South.

The Ole Miss football game in Jackson a week ago was an orgy of this chauvinism. Many in the crowd sat down pointedly through the national anthem and rose only for Dixie, the battle-song of the Confederacy.

Confederate flags were everywhere; I saw only three Stars and Stripes during the whole time I was in the state. Newspapers, speeches and the official pronouncements of the governor constantly underlined the theme of victimization.

When the news came over the radio that federal troops were to be sent in,

Thank You, Canada

Seeing the magnificent production, "Tattoo," which Canada contributed to the pleasure of those attending the World's Fair during Canada Week, inspired me to express in this small way a very large and enthusiastic thank you to the government and the people of our neighbor, Canada.

Many people have remarked that "Canada is certainly getting lots of tourists who are coming to the fair, etc." And, why not? You are hospitable and have many fine things to offer tourists. I hope they stop now to think and appreciate that Canada made a large contribution to the success of the fair, not only with "Tattoo," but their well-planned and executed exhibit—one of the largest of any country. The large copper wall map is particularly attractive, besides being informational. And the Arctic living exhibit is outstanding and beautifully presented.

It is my sincere hope that all of you who visited our fair were treated fairly and courteously, and that we can in return give of our talents to entertain you and inform you in appreciation of all you have given to us.

Of course you know "Tattoo" drew the largest attendance of the entire fair year.

Singular Statement

Rev. E. L. H. Taylor, rector of St. James Anglican Church in Caledon East, Ont., states among other things, "President Kennedy's actions in Mississippi are a brutal encroachment upon the state's constitutional rights."

For a man of God this is a startling and singular statement indeed. Apparently the constitutional rights of Mr. Meredith, the courageous Negro student, are of trifling importance in so far as the Reverend is concerned. He, in fact, makes no mention of these rights. And let us not forget it, Mr. Meredith, thank God, owns those prerogatives.

What President Kennedy did was not to contravene the statutes, but to enforce them, and for anyone outside the narrow-minded and chronically myopic, the President's actions were manifestly clear.

Seldom, if ever, do such remarks as those of Rev. Taylor enhance the clerical image. And one thing more—it is not the number of degrees attained at a college of theology which determines a true Christian. Rather it is the love and understanding of all mankind, regardless of color, creed or religious convictions.

Tail Wags Dog

With what amazement we read your "Welcome asked for Freedomites" that our government "is sending out a welcome wagon and soliciting the PTA and other organizations to make them feel at home."

Is this just an effusion of sarcasm or unconditional surrender to an evil spirit that has kept governments in a ferment for more than half a century? Anyway, it is apparent that the government's failure to control these pampered pests is pathetic in the extreme. Their trek is reminiscent of Napoleon's march to Moscow, only this is a burlesque in reverse at the expense of a long-suffering public. Absurdity can go no further. Gilbert and Sullivan never had better material for an extravaganza.

I think that any leader born of well-seasoned experience in handling troublesome people would prescribe a richly deserved lesson in citizenship discipline, commencing with the issue of an order, that would brook no argument—to retreat to whence they came, at no cost or inconvenience to the burdened taxpayer, and a drastic curb put on their not-so-funny shenanigans henceforth and forever. The tail has wagged the dog far too long.

Why the Outsider?

While our federal representatives are playing politics down at Ottawa, I wish that some of them would raise their sights to this western coast, for I notice that the controversial president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehouse Union, Harry Bridges, has been busy here addressing the Victoria local membership.

A short time ago, I noticed some action of the Teamsters' Union in the Okanagan fruit area had not been too well received by the fruit growers there, which makes me ask the question: "Do we have to be controlled here in Canada by such influences outside of our country, for we seem to have the audacity to tell the British Government what to do in the European Common Market?"

Let us discard these outside controls, which cannot help but rebound to Canada's advantage.

But It Doesn't Make Any Difference

By ALEX NEISH

THE tanks ... ? The soldiers ... ?

The machine guns ... ? The road block ... ? "You don't have to worry about them. We're only a square from the War Office. That's the last place these toy generals are going to fire at—they might kill themselves instead of the civilians. The main point of these revolutions is to give the Army practice—after all they've never fought in a war yet—and the main rule is that you never kill another soldier ... or, for that matter, drop a bomb anywhere near one of the Army offices."

He passed a damp cloth over the scarred surface of the bar and served us each another coffee, short, black, and sweet. In the far corner of the cafe two men were having their nine o'clock in the morning glass of grappa, smoking and watching the two soldiers with the machine guns turn back the few cars that were brave enough to come this far.

"You've always got to remember," continued Carlos, "that this is Buenos Aires, and here a revolution is just one of those things that happens—like a rise in the cost of meat or another drought."

"I've had this cafe here for 15 years and I think nothing more of a tank parked six doors away than I would if you walked in the door and asked for a coffee. In your country they play football and revolutions. Fine—so half a dozen civilians get shot; it just makes it easier for the rest of the population to live. Even their families take it as a matter of course—it's just Fate, nothing more."

Quite Happy

"For a while everyone's quite happy. They don't do anything—they just administer the Army. It's like the Government: the politicians don't really govern—they just administer the bureaucracy. Then after a while everyone gets bored sitting in their offices or driving around in official Cadillacs. So we have a revolution or a pretence at civil war. It might last a day or it might last a week but it doesn't make any difference."

"It was roughly the same with Peron. He took power and did some good things and some bad things. Then he grew bored with it all. He realized the country was too big, her problems too big. Then his wife died and he tried to see how far he could go and he went just far enough to wake the Army and the Navy out of their torpor. So he was deposed and went to Spain with most of the country's money.

THE RARE GIFT

Poetry is not written with interesting sentiments alone, or with finely chosen words alone, but with a mixture of the two—and it must be an unfamiliar mixture; there must be a touch of strangeness, an element of surprise. All poetry is a process of making public something private. But before an emotion or a thought can be made into poetry, it has to be transmuted by a kind of magic. This is a rare gift.

—South African poet, William Plomer.

"The generals were happy for a while—they felt they had achieved something. Then they lost interest and someone else had his turn. Then it was the generals again and then someone else and now we're back at the beginning again."

"You can see for yourself—the people don't care. There's two hundred anyway standing up the avenida looking at the tanks and the soldiers as if it's a theatre melodrama. And in fact it's better because it's free. Tonight they'll go home and watch their television and when that bores them they'll go out to drink or dance or eat. And when that bores them they'll go to bed and sleep. And when they're bored of sleeping they'll get up and start all over again with the same routine."

Just Bored

"What you and other foreigners don't realize is that the whole of Argentina and the whole of South America is bored. Nothing more than that—just bored. Because there's nothing we can do to change anything. Because the power lies with certain people and certain families. Because after they've all had their fun all we'll get will be a rise in the cost of living and another plea from the Government or the generals to pull in our belts and sacrifice ourselves for the good of the country."

REPORTING

OTTAWA—After a week of stand-still on its battered ramparts, the government now has weathered the siege.

This assumes, as everyone does, that the final vote Thursday in the Throne Speech debate will be no more than a formality.

The de facto Tory-Socialist alliance forged last week can muster 145 votes against a combined strength of 118 for the Liberal and New Democratic parties.

It was the exposure of this alliance that was the main achievement of the Liberals' non-confidence motion: the Socialists teamed with the Conservatives to defeat the Grits' bid to topple the government and, despite any rationalizations they may offer, they thus showed themselves as temporary allies of the government.

But there is no prospect of any formal coalition. This is merely an arrangement of convenience, not a marriage. Those amazing Caouette men from Quebec really believe, as one commented in conversation the other day, that "After the next election we're going to be sitting on the other side of the chamber."

The "other side" is the right side. That's where the government sits.

The critical point for the shaky Diefenbaker government was immediately after the Throne Speech. Diefenbaker moved his amendment to Liberal leader Pearson's non-confidence motion.

The amendment was just about the ultimate in political chicanery. It professed to seek the government's resignation, but it was deliberately worded so as to be an endorsement of Social Credit "principles" in the expectation that it would then be so repugnant to the Liberals and NDP that they would vote against it.

Well, this is what happened. But the Liberals gave careful consideration, in a special 6 p.m. caucus session last Tuesday, to swallowing their pride and voting for the Social Credit motion. Some of the Ontario Liberals were willing on the ground that the end, the defeat of the government, would justify the means.

The trouble was that such a move would be an abandonment of Liberal political principles in favor of sheer opportunism.

So the Liberals passed up their best chance so far to force an election this fall. This decision on a question of principle certainly cost Pearson an opportunity to be prime minister by Christmas. But Parliament is the richer by such proof that to some of its members principle is more important than political advantage.

While this analysis may be questioned on the ground that even if the Liberals had voted for the Social Credit amendment, the support or at least the abstention of the NDP would have been required to defeat the government.

But if the Liberals had jumped on the Social Credit motion, the New Democrats in their own political interests would have had to escape responsibility for keeping the Tories in power. If they couldn't vote for the Social Credit motion, they would have had to duck the vote and leave John Diefenbaker to his defeat.

This Tuesday crisis set the stage for last Thursday's vote and for next Thursday's vote. It separated the sheep from the goats, and gave the Commons a semblance of stability.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Let's Have More Torn Tickets

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Ordinarily, a table of figures published by a government bureau will readen my senses faster than a shot of novocain.

Occasionally, however, I encounter a set of statistics that makes me sit up and take notice. Such was the case of a recent commerce department compilation of 1961 recreational expenditures.

One of the recreational activities covered by the survey was "parimutuel horse race betting." It showed that the amount of money lost at this sort of recreation last year was the equivalent of $3 for every man, woman and child in the country.

Obviously, a lot of people have not been doing their part.

Nevertheless, that $3 is an impressive figure. In 1955, when the last recreation survey was made, losses at the track amounted to only $2.50 per person.

The popularity of parimutuel recreation is, of course, based primarily on matters of health. Those who participate do so for the fresh air, the sunshine and the stimulating exercise gained by tearing up losing tickets.

Playing the horses was, in fact, about the only type of strenuous recreation that the average American got last year. The great bulk of our recreational expense was devoted to passive pursuits.

We spent an average of $26 apiece on television and radio receivers, records and musical instruments. Magazines, newspapers and sheet music took $14, and $9.50 went for books and maps.

For the movies we plunked down $7.50, and for stage and opera $2. For flowers, seeds and potted plants we spent $6.

It requires a certain amount of energy to watch a potted plant grow, but otherwise these types of recreation can generally be classed as non-vigorous.

On billiards, bowling, dancing, riding, shooting, skating, swimming, golf, sightseeing, flying, amusement devices and other types of exercise we spent only $5.50 each.

This composite picture of our recreational spending illustrates as well as anything what President Kennedy means when he said that Americans are becoming too sedentary.

It behooves us all to stir ourselves and spend more time at the races.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

They Please the Most Fastidious

Herbaceous peonies are indispensable plants for any garden and they have much in their favor to warrant the statement.

Once planted, they may remain undisturbed for many years—anywhere from 10 to 50, according to the type of soil and the food provided for them. The blooms are large and showy, yet are of perfect form and of sufficient shades of red, pink and white to please the most fastidious. There are doubles, semi-doubles and 'singles', in early, medium and late varieties.

By the end of June when the last of the late flowering varieties are over, the luxurious foliage begins to make a fine addition to the border. With the advent of early fall the leaves take on muted shades of rose and bronze, making them ideal for use with pink and gold cut flowers in vase and bowl arrangements.

This is the time for planting peonies, while the roots are practically dormant. The thick underground tubers are store houses of nutriment, and they depend on a soil rich in humus and plant food to keep them supplied. The growth buds are already to be seen on the tubers, and a set of tubers should have from three to five eyes visible when planted.

Any kind of average garden soil in a reasonably sunny situation is suitable for peonies, but they need the addition of plenty of rotted compost and some peat moss mixed in to the planting hole. A large handful of bonemeal should also be added and mixed in.

No more than two inches of soil may be over the eyes when the soil has been watered in around the tubers and the planting finished, for peonies like the cold of winter and the heat of summer for the ripening process.

Each year balanced fertilizer should be given freely in two doses, one in early spring after the growths are above ground, the other at the end of June when flowering ceases. Bonemeal may be scattered liberally around the plants in late fall, and will be carried down to the root area by rain.

Water is needed at the roots from about early May (in rain-scarce springs) until mid-August.

Mac Prepares to Launch 'Market Idea' Campaign

By ROD CURRIE

LONDON (CP)—The Conservative party annual conference opens in Wales Wednesday with the clear understanding that Prime Minister Macmillan has his heart set on taking Britain into the Common Market.

His job will be to convince the party this is a good thing.

On the surface it would appear the majority of party associations already agree. The agenda, drawn up several months ago, shows that almost half the 31 resolutions on the subject are in favor of joining. 12 are qualified and only four constituencies are openly hostile.

But the agenda pre-dates the London conference of Commonwealth prime ministers with its barrage—almost to a man—of anti-market feeling.

Now there is some speculation that the opinions of the Commonwealth leaders and the publicity they drew, plus the unanimity of the Labor party's stand against Europe on the terms now available, may influence the mood of the Tory convention.

Still, the Conservative party is traditionally disciplined and its leaders are used to getting their way. Despite the bitter anti-market speeches that are bound to be made in debate, there is little doubt among party lieutenants that the resolution summing up the pro-market position will get wide approval.

The opponents will find themselves in the somewhat embarrassing position of siding with the Labor argument. Even one of their amendments, urging the government "to associate with Europe in a manner which has the full agreement of the Commonwealth," sounds like an echo from the Labor convention last week.

Last year the leaders of the Tory anti-market group made a strong bid to slow the government's progress towards Europe but the delegates, routed them with an overwhelming endorsement of Macmillan's stand.

Since then the prime minister has moved his plan ahead step by step.

He will have his eye on the mood of the conference this week and if all goes well as expected—he no doubt will crown his efforts with a ringing pro-market speech when he makes his one and only appearance on the convention floor Saturday morning. It is presumed he will use this platform to launch his campaign to sell the "Market Idea" to the British people.

NEW ECM TALKS SET UP

BRUSSELS (Reuters)—Britain and the European Common Market countries agreed Monday on a full timetable for further ministerial talks on Britain's bid to join the six-nation trade bloc.

Informal sources here said agreement was reached after Britain's chief negotiator, Deputy Foreign Secretary Edward Heath, urged ministers from the Six to hold meetings with him in an attempt to speed up negotiations.

The sources said the ministers would meet again Oct. 23, 26 and 27 to discuss Britain's agriculture, exports from India, Pakistan and Ceylon to an enlarged Common Market, and Britain's request for no tariffs on a number of essential raw materials.

They said Heath stressed Monday that uncertainty about the outcome of Britain's bid could have harmful political and economic results.

The talks were resumed

Monday after being adjourned in August in near-deadlock, mostly over the question of foodstuffs from the Commonwealth. Britain joins the agricultural field and that the community's agricultural levy system might depress world prices.

had expressed two main fears at the Commonwealth conference. These were that the enlarged market might become self-supporting in the agricultural field and that the community's agricultural levy system might depress world prices.

Meredith Jeered Again After Comparative Quiet

Medicare Plank For Ontario

TORONTO (CP) — Universal government-sponsored medical insurance will be a major plank in the Ontario New Democratic Party campaign platform for the next provincial election.

Delegates to the party's convention wound up three days of policy-making Sunday by unanimously approving the medicare resolution and returning Donald C. MacDonald to leadership of the party.

Medical insurance, as proposed by the NDP in Ontario, would cover every resident of the province and be financed partly from "a moderate individual premium" and partly from tax revenue.

The 782 delegates resisted attempts by a few delegates to amend the resolution to include government ownership of hospitals and the licensing of doctors through a government commission.

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—A flying rock and a crowd of jeering students renewed tensions on the University of Mississippi campus after Negro James Meredith's second week as a student began in comparative calm.

The incident occurred at the university cafeteria Monday night, after Meredith arrived for dinner. No one was hurt but some broken glass sprinkled on the 29-year-old Negro's table.

In front, some 270 students jeered and shouted.

Earlier, Meredith attended classes without having to walk through crowds of booing students, a sharp contrast with last week. Two marshals trailed him about 40 feet behind.

Meredith's day went quietly until dinner.

At lunch, only one lone cry of "hi blackie" broke the silence outside the cafeteria. Inside, some 100 students appeared to pay little attention to Meredith.

Earlier in the morning, two unidentified white students shook Meredith's hand as he walked toward his apartment.

ESCORTED BY MARSHALS

The justice department, meanwhile, opened its campaign to gain student acceptance of Meredith. Deputy U.S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach met 200 law students and a smaller group of campus leaders. He indicated he was pleased with the outcome.

The army said it would release another 4,600 Mississippi national guardsmen tonight. This will leave 3,000 of the 11,000 guardsmen originally called up in the Oxford area. Some 7,000 regular army troops are on duty there.

The U.S. Supreme Court rejected Monday an appeal by the state of Mississippi contesting orders that resulted in the enrolment of Meredith.

Where customer service counts, a long distance telephone call confirms orders, gets goods on their way with the minimum delay. In a three-minute phone call you exchange some 300 words (not 10, not 50, but 300!) and get the answers as fast as you ask the questions. Then, immediately, you're in a position to act. ■■■ Conversations don't have to be filed. They cut out needless paperwork and leave your desk uncluttered. Important telephones are readily answered when long distance calls arrive. And, if you're selling something, nothing beats the warm persuasiveness of the human voice. ■■■ The fastest, most efficient way to do business at a distance is right at your elbow. Endurance Handicap? Sir Jungle by Himself

By HAL MALONE

A gelding once considered a "little loco" turned the Vancouver Island Endurance Championship at Sandown into two races on Thanksgiving Day.

Seven horses sought the pot at the soggy Sidney strip but the way Sir Jungle won it you would have thought he was equipped with a 70-horsepower outboard while the rest were dragging anchor chains.

Sent off as the hot 8-5 favorite by nearly 4,000 well-moistened punters, Sir Jungle went into high gear, passing gear and overdrive within a few bounds from the gate. At one stage his margin was an incredible 21 lengths, on a track fit primarily for something running in the silks of Island Tug & Barge.

Even in the jockeys' room where conversation usually is confined to girls and the selection of programs on the television set, the riders were practically exuberant over Sir Jungle.

"I thought," said Gordy Atkins, who brought Tallyho in third, "that my mare was going well. The mud was flying pretty bad and I knew Sir Jungle was out there but when I looked up and saw him that far ahead on the last turn I knew we weren't going to get any part of it."

HE'S MATURED

"I remember him as a two-year-old," said Bill "Red" Howe. "Loco as anything. He would kick and lunge and roll and flip. Everything. But he's developed into a nice horse."

"Goes the same speed all the way," said Buford "Randy" Mills. "Gets into high gear quickly and stays there."

"I guess," he said, "he could have gone around once more if I had asked him."

Few watching Sir Jungle could doubt Mills' appraisal.

Series Time Open Season For Rumors

NEW YORK (AP)—Rumors of baseball changes swirled around the World Series as usual Monday.

One report—denied—said Bill Veech has obtained an option to purchase the Washington Senators.

Another—which drew no official reaction—said Walter Alston would be retained as manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers despite his team's flop at the end of the season and in the playoff for the National League pennant with the San Francisco Giants.

E. R. (Pete) Quesada, president of the Senators, said in Washington that "the club is not for sale" and Veech—at his home in Easton, Md., said: "I have no option and haven't asked for any option."

As for Alston, speculation has been strong that he would be dropped as manager, possibly being made an assistant to Emile (Buzze) Bavasi, the Dodgers vice-president and general manager.

Junior Grid Final Could Be Thriller

If Victoria Hornets and Surrey Rams follow the Fraser Valley Junior Football League form chart, they'll be clashing for the league playoff title.

And there were signs aplenty on the Carnarvon Park turf Sunday that the playoff final could be a spectacular battle.

Hornets, who had earlier clinched a first-place finish and a bye into the final, were edged by the Rams in a 13-12 thriller after running up a 12-0 lead in the opening quarter.

Rams and Richmond Colts tangled next weekend in the semi-final playoff and Surrey is a heavy favorite to move into the final the following weekend in Victoria.

Hornets buzzed for two first-

BUENOS AIRES—Federico Thompson, 24, Argentina, outpointed Jorge Perella, 24, Uruguay, 15.

GIFU, Japan—Yoonan Charamuang, 27, Thailand, stopped Yui Masuko, 27, Japan, 8.

All-Stars Tie United Squad

Victoria United was figured to run with the Pacific Coast Soccer League's leaders, so the mark of surprise has to be charted alongside the name of Columbus.

Columbia, too, was figured to run with the leaders. It took Pete Mainardi's crew three games but the highly-touted Italians finally have their first point of the season.

That came with Monday's 2-2 tie against coach Joe Travis' North Shore team. It was the second draw for North Shore during the weekend.

Shores tied Pilseners 1-1 on Saturday while Victoria United marked up a 2-1 victory over Seattle Hungarians.

A scheduled Sunday game between Canadians and Firefighters was cancelled.

ALL-STARS TIED
Victoria's entry seemingly has more difficulty with "its own" than with league rivals. Not overly impressive Saturday despite its victory over Seattle, United looked sharper Monday when it tied the District League All-Stars 2-2 at Royal Athletic Park.

Monday's match here was the first in a best-of-three series for the Robbins Trophy, won last year by United in three games.

Henry Vanderhorst scored both goals and United came from behind twice to draw with the Stars. Tony Bourbijn and Bob Marsden scored for the select.

MUDDY ROAD
Driving rain spoiled Monday's game in Vancouver, with neither side able to control the ball in the muddy going. Full-back Steven Djorich and centre forward John Comuzzi scored for Columbus while Neiro Gerele and inside left Dick Crompton counted for North Shore, which led 2-1 at the half.

Saturday playing before about 300 fans, United had little trouble with Seattle STOPPED for driving too slow in a Philadelphia park, world heavyweight champion Sonny Liston accused park guard of being "prejudiced against" him. No charges were lodged.

BEST ALL-ROUNDER
Hay Captures Bike Climb, Club Trophy

Ken Hay was a double winner as the Victoria Cycling Club wound up its season's activities with a hill-climb Sunday at Mount Tolmie.

Hay took the senior men's climb as he hit the top in one minute 59 seconds to beat runner-up Hank Wouters by 11 seconds. He was also announced winner of the club trophy for the best all-round rider in 1962 with Wouters second and Bill Wild third.

Mike Rasmussen won the Junior boys' hillclimb in 2:11 and Heather Wilson paced junior girls with a time of three minutes flat.

Other all-round placings: Junior boys—1, Rasmussen, 2, Alan Jones, 3, Tom McKee. Women—1, Carol Hay, 2, Anne Wild, 3, Ev Pasien. Junior girls—1, H. Wilson, 2, Linda Hay.

The sloop, as always, favored horses partial to it and caused horses well fancied to take a bath. Matchet and Lost Boss revelled in it to provide a handsome $126.90 quinnella return in the first race. Vigil's Son, 123 pounds and all, ate it up and her field—in the fourth to combine with Turkish Night for a husky $76.40 Exacto.

GIANT KILLER
On Saturday the cream of the handicap crop came a cropper at the flying feet of a little filly considered lacking the credentials.

Rebel Lea, haltered July 16 for a paltry $1,600, consumed two track record holders, Ky Look and Desert Fire, and the hottest three-year-old on the grounds, Over Current, to win the mile and 70 chance by five lusty lengths.

Expertly conditioned by Wayne Snow and well ridden by Walter Miller, Rebel Lea thrust her jaw in front of Ky Look after a quarter and that was it.

Desert Fire, thought by many (he was 4-5) to be the handicap champion, found the highway conditions and his burden (127 pounds) too onerous and finished a lackluster fourth.

MUTUEL MURMURS... Leading rider George Miller banged his foot on a bar in the starting gate Monday and had to take off his mounts... Walter Miller took a nasty rap in the face when Armed Leaf threw his head back in the parade before the second race... The mutuel play was $106,968 Saturday, $95,620 Monday, bringing it to $1,099,471 with two days—Wednesday and Saturday—remaining... The $2,000 Centennial Handicap—richest race ever run on Vancouver Island, will go Saturday... There were two claims: Bill Olson took Little Tam for $500, and W. S. Gilker haltered Carnegie for $1,000.

BASEBALL BODY MEETS
Victoria and District Baseball Association's annual general meeting will be held Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Naval Vets' Hall, 1417 Broad Street.

Hercules Cortez Downs Haggerty
Hercules Cortez chalked up another grapple triumph Saturday, defeating hard-boiled Haggerty in the feature bout of a professional wrestling card at Memorial Arena.

In preliminary bouts, George Gordenko tussled to a draw with Sandor Kovacs, Bill Wright bested Sonny Redwing, Eric Froelich downed Pepe Gonzales and Roy McClarty drew with Paul DeGalle.

MIGHTY OHIO REPULSED BY REMARKABLE BRUINS

UCLA's remarkable Bruins threw back three Ohio State drives at the one-yard line Saturday and stunned the top-ranked United States college football team 9-7 on Larry Zeno's field goal in the closing moments.

Two others among the top 10, Georgia Tech and Army, also were knocked off. Mississippi made a bold bid to improve its rating with a 40-7 rout of previously unbeaten Houston.

Louisiana State, bounced out of the top 10 a week ago, came back with a 10-7 triumph over sixth-ranked Georgia Tech.

Sixth-ranked Southern California won its third without loss, taking advantage of Iowa mistakes for a 7-0 triumph. Washington, No. 8, blanked winless Kansas State 41-0.

Cedar Hill Pair Claims Golf Buttons

The Victoria and District Golf Association's open buttons today are in the hands of a Cedar Hill team.

Professional Dick Munn and Kerry Greenwood teamed up Sunday to defeat Uplands' Gord Pellow and Ken Lawson on the 19th at storm-swept Victoria Golf Club.

Square after nine holes and one down after 15, the Cedar Hill challengers drew even when Greenwood marked up a birdie four on the 17th hole.

Munn then birdied the par-five extra hole to mark up the victory.

Cec Ferguson and John McCormick edged Vic Derman and Billy Hodgson, one up, in an all-Gorge Vale battle for the junior buttons.

Price Willing to Risk $125,000 on Rematch

PARIS (AP)—Jack Price, a miracle if Carry Back had won Europe's richest race on his first try.

Most track officials considered it imprudent for Price to think he could win the Arc de Triomphe at Longchamp with Carry Back.

One turf expert put it this way: "Pick the best horse in the world, put the greatest jockey on him and throw him suddenly into the mile and a half up and downhill Longchamp course with its terrible last turn with a cavalry charge of 24 horses running for the finish."

"I'm sure we could beat all of them, and I'd like the chance to show French racing fans what my horse can really do."

Carry Back, 1961 Kentucky Derby winner and three-year-old horse of the year, did not get a call in the race which was won by French-bred Solitkoff.

French sports pages were full of praise Monday for Solitkoff, winner of the $220,000 race, while an unidentified member of the French Jockey Club said it would have been

NICKEL IN WORLD MARKETS...JOBS FOR CANADIANS

How Canadian Nickel helps make seawater drinkable in Kuwait

It wasn't so long ago that Kuwait's drinking water had to be imported in goatskin bags; the natural sources of water being particularly foul and brackish. Today, however, the world's largest seawater evaporation plant supplies six million gallons of fresh water daily. Nickel alloys helped make this plant possible, just as they help in similar ways in other countries. Why nickel? Because nickel alloys can best withstand the punishing effects of corrosive salt water. The growth of nickel markets at home and abroad helps strengthen Canada's economy and helps provide more jobs for Canadians.

ALPINE FIRE had to be hustled to take command in first quarter, then shook off Doree Dee at head of stretch and had enough left to hold short margin at finish. LADY AGGRESSOR was in first turn, was dropped to rail, had trouble getting in stride again, but closed strongly when straightened out for home and almost got up to take it all. DOREE DEE made his coming out back stretch, put within striking distance of winner at head of stretch, then weakened. TOMANDER went evenly. LULU QUEEN was going well at end. BABY ROSE had some early speed.

6133—THIRD RACE—Claiming, purse $500. For three-year-olds and upward which have not won two races since May 4. Three-year-olds, 115 lbs.; older, 122 lbs.; non-winners since May 4 allowed 3 lbs. DAN DEE CEE lay in on rail back of leaders, could not get through when trying to move up approaching far turn, eased back, waited until final eighth, then drove to top under strong handling in last few yards. CHATWORTH came up good early lead on field but was giving way in run through stretch. FOXNY PRICE was a strong contender all the way. HARBIE was never far out of S. PRINCESS PAM was out on first turn, had to run on outside of horses and could never make up lost ground. CRESCENT RED had some early speed but could not keep up. Declared—Honeywell.

QUICKIE STORM CUTS OFF POWER

Damage done by a 40-mile-an-hour wind that whipped in from the southeast Sunday was mostly to the tempers of Gordon Head housewives who found themselves with dinner in the oven and the power snipped off by flying tree limbs at 6:35 p.m.

Other hydro breaks caused by the quickie storm, which at 10:30 a.m. registered a 64 miles per hour gust, were in Oak Bay south of the avenue and in Henderson Road area.

Tree casualties were highest in Uplands district, through which the big wind funneled on a forenoon rampage. Streets were littered with minor debris, and a number of heavy branches were ripped from oaks on private property or along the boulevards.

A sequence of weekend showers accounted for three-day precipitation totalling .84 inches.

The parent storm swirling about the Gulf of Alaska hasn't faded away yet, according to weatherman William Mackie, although winds should not exceed 15 or 20 miles per hour.

Surges of moist, cool air will give Victoria a mixed grill of cloud, showers and intermittent sunshine.

VICTORIA, B.C., TUESDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1962—PAGE 13

ARTHUR MAYSE

While the Sunday southeaster was huffing and puffing, we jogged down through our wildlands to see how the beach stairs Mr. Yorgenson built for us were taking the weather.

We needn't have worried. Though the slope ran water and the crested gale seas were hurling logs against the foreshore, not even the bottom flight had budged.

Mr. Yorgenson never did succeed in teaching me to open a beer bottle with an axe, but he made a mighty skookum job of those 108 steps.

He entered our lives on a red hot July day. He looked slight, almost frail in his worn denim and old suit coat. Still, his eyes were very blue and steady, and he wore his little white sport cap with a certain air.

I tramped down with him, explaining what we wanted done, and outlining the attendant difficulties. Mr. Yorgenson nodded a time or two, but said nothing. At the foot of our place he shed his jacket and folded it neatly. Then, with the immaculate cap riding level on his head, he vanished into an ocean spray thicket.

He didn't reappear. In fact we didn't see him again that day or the next, and decided Mr. Yorgenson had quite sensibly written off the job as too tough for him.

On the third morning he arrived with the milkman. He had substituted gum boots for his black town shoes, and dangled a single-bit axe which had plainly seen better days. He had not, however, shed the jaunty white cap.

"I got her looked over," he said, with the merest flicker of a smile. "I think today we got to work."

I had work of my own to do, and didn't tag along. But the thought of Mr. Yorgenson struggling alone in the nether jungles bothered me. Toward noon, I stuck a bottle of beer in each hip pocket and headed down there.

A mild voice reached up to me from mid-slope. "Better if you stay on top a minute."

One foot on a fresh-hewn alder stump and the other wedged into the bank, Mr. Yorgenson was testing the breeze with a finger. Satisfied, he began to swing his axe against a wry leaning alder bigger around than his own ready self.

The chips were the size of pie plates, the smooth-sided undercut deepened magically. In less than a minute, Mr. Yorgenson shifted his stance, and from what should have been an impossible angle, started spraying those monstrous chips again.

The treetop shuddered, the alder toppled with a sigh and a booming crash. Although he didn't indicate the fact by word or look, I knew Mr. Yorgenson had dropped his stick precisely where he wanted it.

I realized also that here was a master axeman.

Naturally, I hung around. After a while Mr. Yorgenson allowed me to fetch my own axe and clear brush. Later, resting in the shade, he uncapped a beer bottle with a dexterous flip of his axe bit.

"A good thing it was not branvin," Mr. Yorgenson told me with one of his rare smiles. "That is Swedish moonshine. It would burn a hole in your pants."

He quenched a morning's thirst in a succession of long swallows, then set his empty bottle behind a log. "This week we clear us a way to the bottom," he said. "Next week we pack in planks. I know where is the deck off a bridge they took out near Sooke. It will make us good steps."

And so it went, for 21 happy if backbreaking days. Mostly I cut brush while Mr. Yorgenson, with sledge and spikes, a borrowed power saw and his wonderful axe, custom tailored four solid flights to the route, he had engineered for them.

He carved landings deep into the blue clay of the bank. He hoisted cedar logs from the beach to make enduring foundations. He toted 200-pound planks on his shoulder up and down a greasy sidehill that would sweat a mule.

When all was finished, we voted ourselves an extra beer.

Mr. Yorgenson took the top off his neatly as usual, and also as usual, I cracked the bottle neck.

"Should be brenvin," I said, and got one of those brief, dignified smiles.

"I guess you will never learn the trick," Mr. Yorgenson said mildly.

He finished his beer and went away—a Swedish faller too old for the logging woods—trail Hercules topped by that gallant little white sport cap.

Gales, winter rain, falling trees or sliding clay may some year take out his stairs. I admit the possibility.

Just the same, I'm betting on Mr. Yorgenson!

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Winners of the annual mixed pairs of the Victoria City Champion Tournament conducted by the American Contract Bridge League were:

1. Ethel Cleworth and Jack Goldie; 2. Marianne Powell and Bud Waddington; 3. Molly Collins and Bill McConnell; 4. Madge Meachem and Harry Parry; 5. Gwen Humphrys and Cyril Hunter; 6. Maria Coll and Eric Horwood.

Peter Humber, 1433 Westall, a carrier boy for a local newspaper, reported to police that three youths approached him at Cook and Hillside at about 7:20 p.m., Saturday, and robbed him of $40—his collection money for newspapers.

They asked him for the time and snatched the money when he was off guard, he said. They took off in the direction of Bay Street.

Geoffrey Ellis of the Victoria Credit Granters' Association will address a meeting of the group on credit conditions in Great Britain tonight at 6 in the Terra Cotta Room of the Dominion Hotel.

A full-scale public information program on the civic precinct project was mapped out at City Hall today.

A meeting of the special committee organizing the $1,000,000 project decided to use a variety of avenues—including public meetings and press releases—to inform the public of all aspects of the project before a money bylaw vote.

Olive Johnson, president B.C. branch of the Canadian Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament will address a public meeting Wednesday evening at 8 in the cafeteria of the Douglas Building, 600 Douglas Street.

Mrs. Johnson will report on the Moscow and Tokyo Peace Congresses and will show color slides taken in Japan and Russia.

Harold Preston, 1327 Sussex, was fined $50 in the Colwood RCMP court for dangerous driving. The charge arose out of an accident on Four-Mile Hill Friday night when $1,000 damage was caused to the two cars involved.

Henry William Flett, no fixed address, was fined $35 in the same court when he pleaded guilty to careless driving.

"SILENT BILL" ... breaks silence

FORMER GANGLAND FIGURE IN TOWN WITH A MESSAGE

He Speaks But He Doesn't Talk

By FRANK RUTTER

Silent Bill spoke today. But he didn't talk.

William Semple got his nickname eight years ago when he refused to identify two hoods who took him for a ride in Stanley Park.

He refused to tell the secrets of Vancouver's narcotics underworld.

Instead he took his secrets to Stony Mountain Penitentiary, where he served seven years of a 10-year term for trafficking in drugs.

Today, Silent Bill gave his first newspaper interview since then in a Victoria hotel room.

He Has Message

He still won't tell about his gangland associates.

Instead he told a story of repentance. A story with a message, a message he hopes everyone will read in the book he is writing.

The message: "Educate the kids about narcotics."

Now's the time to strike to stamp out addiction, he says.

"The drug trade is down to a trickle in Vancouver—everywhere in North America."

Bill, 59, was once a kingpin in Vancouver's drug trade. He was shot in the groin and left for dead in Stanley Park in 1954.

It was during a war between rival gangs of traffickers.

He said he was unwanted "competition."

He says North America's narcotic underworld is controlled "from the top" at Asbury Park, New Jersey through agents in Toronto.

But stiff new penalties—up to 20 years for trafficking—and active raids have brought the order to stop peddling, he says.

$500 a Crack

Traffic in Toronto is virtually nonexistent; the few drugs available in Vancouver are brought in by sailors for $500 a delivery, he says.

It's a temporary pause, and the traffickers are biding their time to reorganize, probably in another country, Bill predicts.

Anyone who violates the no-peddling order is punished by the big-time bosses.

Three Men Killed

Bill says three men have been killed for this. Latest slaying was that of Albert Acuci, formerly of Toronto, put to "the torch" in a field near Rochester, N.Y., last Nov. 23.

Bill's association with the underworld goes back to Chicago in the roaring twenties.

After the Stanley Park shooting and his conviction, he refused to testify at a preliminary hearing into a charge of his attempted murder against two men; they were released.

In the Manitoba prison, Bill served as librarian.

'Until You Cry'

That was where he started on his book.

"I didn't have much education. But they say the only way to be a writer is to write until you cry. I did."

He got out of prison seven months ago, came to Victoria, where his wife and two children are living, returned to Toronto for a few months, and now is here again.

Now he wants to find "a quiet cottage somewhere" to finish his book, called Restitution. He's been negotiating with a Toronto publishing house.

"It's a story of murder, mayhem, violence and hatred. It's the story of some of my experiences. But it's fiction. It's set in a Pacific coast city."

'An Empty Life'

Bill won't have anything more to do with the underworld, or, he hopes, the police.

"If somebody from the narcotics underworld walked into this room today, I'd ram this down his throat," said Bill, waving his pen.

"The underworld is an empty life."

"Some of these people can cry over a kitten caught in a tree, but they don't care about killing somebody's kid with narcotics."

"Sure there's a lot of illegitimate money to be made, but there's a lot of legitimate money, too. And that's all I want."

The underworld tried to kill Bill in 1954. Will some body try again?

He laughed.

"I can walk about the streets, I'm not afraid. Of course they could try again. But I'm not worried. I'm not going to have anything more to do with them."

The only time Bill has ever taken a drug was in hospital.

"Drugs is for horses," he says.

VICTIMS OF FOUR-CAR PILE-UP at Trans-Canada Highway and Wilkinson Road Monday afternoon are here being removed by Constables Rick Avison and Jack Stone of Saanich police. A west-bound car driven by Robert W. Boad went out of control, crossed centre line and collided with vehicle driven by Harold Snider, 317 Huntington Place. Both cars were then struck by another one and it in turn was struck in rear by a fourth car. Mr. Boad, 31-year-old father of two, is in a coma at St. Joseph's Hospital. Mr. Snider is in "fair" condition in hospital and Diane Sumner, 943 Cowichan, shown being taken from Mr. Snider's car, is in "good" condition with leg injuries and lacerations. (Robin Clarke photo.)

Youngster Unconscious

Jacqueline Hagel, 1241 Burnside West, is still unconscious in St. Joseph's Hospital as the result of head injuries received in an accident in the 1200 block of Burnside Road Friday night.

She was riding her tricycle and was in collision with a car driven west on Burnside Road by Donald Wayne Andrews, 20, of Aldergrove, B.C.

Since her admission to hospital, her condition has remained unchanged, hospital officials reported.

WES MORHART ... who else?

It's Five in a Row For Veteran Rider

Wes Morhart of Victoria Monday hung on to his title as the top hill climber in Vancouver Island's motorcycle fraternity.

He clocked a 5.94-second pace in bucking up the rain-soaked course rising 172 feet on the steep west slope of Mount Douglas to win the Island championship.

He turned in an even faster performance earlier over the same course to win the Victoria Motorcycle Club's closed championship event with a 5.32-second time.

It was the fifth year in a row that he won both events.

38 COMPETE

A total of 38 competitors, from as far north as Nanaimo, were entered in the VMC's 42nd annual Hill Climb Monday.

Behind Mr. Morhart came Dave Moore, in second place, and Ernie Hills, in third, in the closed club competition.

They traded places to take second and third honors in the Island open championship event.

Mike Venables won the 500-c.c. class and Bob Alexander took first place in the 650-c.c. class.

All the winners were from Victoria.

New Pageant Plan Pushed by Curtis

A pageant on the history of the British Crown, backed by sports events and military shows, should be added to the Victoria Day celebrations, Ald. A. I. Curtis suggested today.

He said an expanded May 24 weekend schedule would become a major tourist attraction and lengthen out the tourist season.

Ald. Curtis, president of Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, who has worked all his life in the tourist field, said the event should be locally produced and in advance of the normal tourist flow.

His plan contradicted a campaign by Ald. Michael Griffin to convince city council it should rebire the John B. Rogers Company to operate a professional show in July and August.

Ald. Curtis indicated there was little sense in spending money on events aimed at bringing tourists who already were coming. He also said there was a wealth of local talent and an existing organization to undertake the project.

AROUND MAY 24

"We do not need to worry about July and August," he said. "My feeling is that we should concentrate all our efforts around the May 24th period."

He said a pageant on the British Crown would be appropriate to the occasion and would be different enough to attract Americans.

It could be backed up with a founded program of armed forces displays, sporting events and horticultural displays.

"We already have the nucleus in our very hard working Greater Victoria Celebrations Association (which produces the May 24 weekend program) and only need to provide more money to do a first class job," he said.

LOTS OF TALENT

"I am sure we have a wealth of talent among our own citizens who could put a good show together and could enlist the services of history professors at Victoria College and Royal Roads to prepare a factually correct story for the pageant."

Ald. Curtis said he was sure transportation companies would help in publicizing the events and probably would arrange tours to the Island in conjunction with it.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today:

Donald Edward Tyrell, 907 Forsyth, $40 for careless driving and driver's licence suspended for three months.

Thomas A. McLeod, HMCSSussexvale, $40 for careless driving; $25, no driver's licence.

Raymond John Lanheim, HMCSS Beacon Hill, $25, no driver's licence.

BENNY NICHOLAS MEMORIAL AWARD FOR 'THE BOARDERS'

Racial Prejudice Story Wins $100 Prize for Student

W. T. HOGGARTH ... "prejudice exists here"

A deep feeling against race prejudice inspired a short story called "The Boarders" which has won the annual B. C. Nicholas Memorial award of $100 for William Thomas Hoggarth of 3238 Eldon Place.

The award is presented annually by the Victoria Daily Times in memory of the late B. C. (Benny) Nicholas, famed Times editor and local personality who died here in 1936.

Mr. Hoggarth, aged 20, is a third-year English student at Victoria College. His short story concerns a Hindu family living in an imaginary

Canadian household and was based on his personal observation of racial prejudice in Victoria.

"Such prejudice does exist here," he said, "and I think it is utterly wrong. Why should we think we are superior to other races?"

A quiet reserved man, Mr. Hoggarth has been studying fiction at Victoria College under George Cuomo. He has written some half a dozen short stories during the past year, and entered two of them for the B.C. Nicholas award.

His other entry was entitled "Benny and the Old Man." This was a coincidence, he says, as the story had no reference to Benny Nicholas.

Born and raised in Victoria, Mr. Hoggarth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hoggarth. He received his earlier education at S. J. Willis Junior High and Mount View High School. "I have not yet decided on a career," he said, "or whether I shall continue writing fiction."

The Times award is made to the student who submits the best piece of "mass media" writing—journalism, poetry, dramatic or a magazine-type article.

The judges this year were Times writers Arthur Mayse and Arthur Stott and Mrs. Ross Napier, correspondence division, department of education.

They gave honorable mention to Julian Reid, a former winner of the award, for his folio of verse, and M. E. Linnell for his short story on a Chinese theme, "First Born."

DEAR ABBY . . .

Something's Wrong Somewhere!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Do you know of an institution or home where a 12-year-old can stay? My parents both say that I drive them crazy and they drive me nuts, too. Everybody yells at me and picks on me. All I want is to get away somewhere to give everybody a rest, including me. My parents are willing to pay/double for a place to put me for a month or so. Please give me the name, address and phone number of a good institution. Thanks.

AN UNDERPRIVILEGED 12-YEAR-OLD.

DEAR "UNDERPRIVILEGED": As soon as we have enough convalescent homes for oldsters we'll start thinking of adolescent homes for youngsters.

DEAR ABBY: I was glad to read where you said "What's a cold foot or knee in your back compared with 'together-ness'?" I wish my wife (now "ex-wife") thought so.

On our first vacation, after having driven 600 miles, we stopped at a motor court at 10 p.m. and the only room available had a big double bed. My wife created such a commotion that we had to drive another 100 miles before we came to a motel with twin beds. She said I was trying to ruin her vacation. I neither drink, smoke nor snore. What should I have done?

SLOW LEARNER. DEAR SLOW: According to your letter, you did it!

DEAR ABBY: I have been married 23 years and have a very good husband in many ways, but one fault he has is eating me up alive. He has never addressed me by my name. Here is an example: "Where is my shirt?" and "Get ready, we're going." We have argued about this ever since we were married. He has more respect for our dog. At least he calls the dog by his name. I tell him I was baptized like everyone else and have a name, but he says I am just looking for a fight. Sometimes I make believe I don't hear him and he yells, "Do YOU HEAR ME?" What should I do?

NO NAME. DEAR NO NAME: Sometimes it's best to know when to give up. Nagging a husband about something he has refused to correct for 23 years will net you nothing but an ulcer. Why don't you forget it for the next 23 years and see how that works?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SWEET 16 AND NEVER BEEN KISSED": Don't expect too much too soon. You'll be shaping up before long.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Check Badminton Racquet—You May Need New String

By PENNY SAVER

Are you losing friends at the badminton club because your backhand swing isn't up to par? It may be, the fault lies in your racquet. What a relief it would be to know that it is not due to the poor shape you are in after a lazy summer! If you have any doubts about your racquet have it restrung with a new synthetic fibre imported from Germany.

This new string will stay taut, giving you more control over your off-centre shots. And when you tell the "birdie" your opponent won't question your intent.

To make sure of a good badminton season take your old racket in to be restrung—your bill will be $5. If you are just starting to play there is a selection of rackets with wood or steel shafts priced between $2.95 and $8.95.

For those who get pleasure out of sweeping a sheet of ice you will be interested to know that new curling brooms have arrived. Special ones for ladies sell at $4.85. Name of the new brooms sounds like something you might see on the French Riviera, but I assure you the resemblance ends there.

Here is one more thing for Victoria to boast of—salesmen claim that there are more tether balls sold in Victoria than anywhere else in Canada. If your backyard is missing a tether ball have one installed. A new shipment of these balls selling at $7.25 has just arrived. A pole is available for another $5 but a few feet of 2-inch dowelling will serve the same purpose. For some reason, not known to Penny, a tether ball will amuse children for days on end.

If you want to improve your backhand swing phone Penny at 382-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Don't Let Neck Show Age, Watch Posture—Exercise

A woman's neck often shows age when her face is comparatively lineless. Three factors help immensely in keeping the neckline youthful.

First there is posture. Poor posture can ruin your neck, while good posture helps preserve its charm. Try to remember to hold your head so that your chin is parallel to the floor. Push toward the ceiling with the top of your head. If you have the habit of leading with your chin or ducking your chin into your neck, don't break your neck but do break the habit!

Regular daily lubrication is essential. You should give your neck the same care you give your face. If the skin of your neck is sallow, a circulation cream sometimes helps.

Exercise will delay signs of aging in the neckline. Try these two.

Stand or sit erect. Place your hands on your hips with chin parallel to the floor and push toward the ceiling with the top of your head. Hold this posture as you turn your head to the left as far as you can and look at your left shoulder. Now turn your head as far to the right as you can and look at your right shoulder. Continue, alternating left and right.

Using the same position, make circles with your head. Make the circles as large as you can. Circle first in one direction for a while, and then in the other. This exercise makes some women dizzy. If it makes you dizzy, make one circle to the left and the next time to the right.

Stand in front of a mirror and let your shoulders slump forward. Notice how prominent this makes your collar bones? Now assume correct posture. See the bones become less noticeable? Of course a gain in weight will help this condition if you are underweight.

If you would like to have my exercise for the neck, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the leaflet, "Is Your Chin a Pain in the Neck?" Address your request for leaflet No. 10 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

TODAY'S RECIPE

SCALLOPED ZUCCHINI 1/2 pound zucchini, 6 slices side bacon, cut up; 2 tablespoons finely-chopped onion; 1 cup sliced fresh or canned mushrooms; 1 can (20 ounces) tomatoes; 1/2 teaspoon salt; few grains pepper; 1/2 teaspoon crushed basil or marjoram; 2 teaspoons granulated sugar; 1 cup small bread cubes.

Wash zucchini but do not peel it; cut into 1/2-inch slices, discarding ends. Cook in a small amount of salted boiling water until just tender.

Meantime, preheat oven to 350 deg. F (moderate). Fry cut-up bacon until crisp; drain from fat in pan. Add onion and mushrooms to bacon dripping and fry until golden, stirring often; drain off any fat. Stir in tomatoes, salt, pepper, basil or marjoram and sugar. Drain zucchini well and add to tomato mixture; mix in bacon chips and bread cubes. Turn into an 8-cup casserole. Cover and bake in preheated oven until heated through—about 40 minutes. Yields four or five servings.

Fall-Toned Flowers Set Decor

Large standards of rust and yellow chrysanthemums in St. Barnabas Church set the scene for the recent marriage of Wanda Florence Lillian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick O. E. Lindgren, 957 Linkleas Avenue, and John Llewellyn Tilley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Tilley of Ladysmith. Matching flowers and ribbons marked guest pews.

Rev. David Houghton, Ladysmith, performed the double ring ceremony and Rev. Canon Brian Page of St. Barnabas Church officiated at the nuptial mass.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a bell-skirted floor-length gown of white faille. Tiny moon buttons fastened the back of the hand-embroidered Alencon lace over-bodice. Sleeves ended in lily points. Italian white satin roses held a double illusion net veil, borrowed from the groom's sister. She carried an all white colonial bouquet of rosebuds, carnations, stephanotis and streamers. Only jewelry was a string of pearls, gift of the groom.

Bridesmaid, Miss Judith Whitaker, Vancouver, wore a rust peau de sole bell-skirted dress and junior bridesmaid, Miss Wendy Lindgren, sister of the bride, an autumn brown peau de sole dress in similar style. Both attendants carried bouquets of matching chrysthemums and white carnations. Accessories were white and bow headpieces en tone. Miss Winifred Lindgren, youngest sister of the bride, was flower girl in a gold peau de sole frock with full pleated skirt. She carried a matching colonial bouquet and wore a toning bow headpiece.

Richard Tilley, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Thomas Robertson and Huber Morgan.

Yellow chrysanthemums decorated the Ardnahean Lounge of Holyrood House for the buffet luncheon reception. Major Peter Mathisen of Victoria, proposed the toast.

Leaving on honeymoon the bride donned an off-white boucle suit and ocelot fur fabric hat, matching purse, white kid gloves and toning shoes.

After a honeymoon up-Island the newlyweds will make their home in Vancouver.

Here from Regina, Sask., for the wedding were a great-aunt and uncle of the bride, and many friends and relatives from Calgary, Alta., Vancouver and Ladysmith.

Naval Couple Feted

Parties have been held by many friends to honor a popular naval couple, Lt.-Cmdr. H. W. Vondette, RCN, and Mrs. Vondette, who leave on October 20 to make their home in Halifax, N.S., where Lt.-Cmdr. Vondette will join the staff of the weapons school in HMCS Stadacona.

Two hundred guests attended when the crew of HMCS Stettler, of which Lt.-Cmdr. Vondette has been in command, honored him and Mrs. Vondette at a formal dance in the Club Sirocco on Friday evening. Lt.-Cmdr. Vondette was presented with a fireside set when the ship's officers honored him at a mess dinner in the ship's wardroom on Wednesday evening.

Queenswood Drive home of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. C. Hunter was scene of a small dinner party in honor of the couple on Saturday evening. Sunday-evening, Cmdr. H. R. Tilley, RCN, and Mrs. Tilley were dinner hosts in their home on Fairfield Road. At another dinner given by Councillor and Mrs. R. W. Chard in their Hobbs Road home guests included Mr. and Mrs. Hunter, Dr. and Mrs. J. Beattie MacLean and Rev. William Hills.

Friends in the Cadboro Bay area arranged a progressive dinner party recently in honor of the couple. Hors d'oeuvres were served in the Camelot Road home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Hight and the main course was enjoyed in the Monarch Place home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Matthews. Dessert followed in the Scolton Road home of Mr. and Mrs. Fraser A. MacLean. Closing phase of the party was held at the Lauder Road home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Moore.

Sign Book

Victorians continue to head south during the fall months. Signing the visitors' book in British Columbia House in San Francisco, Calif., recently were Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Boorman, Mrs. Edith Fidler, Mrs. E. McGinnis, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wright, Mr. A. Bell, Mr. James G. Whiteaker, Mr. Jack Watchman and Mrs. George Foucher.

Visits Relatives

Mrs. Agnes McGregor arrived by air from England recently and is spending the next three weeks as the house guest of her uncle and aunt, Col. C. G. S. Bagot and Mrs. Bagot in their home on Jasmine Avenue. At the end of her visit, Mrs. McGregor will fly to Hawaii and from there to Australia where she will make her home in New South Wales.

To Make One Pair

Modern shoemaking has developed into an exacting science. It is highly precision work because the shoe has to meet the requirements of fit, wear, comfort, style and good, all-round performance. An example of this "exacting science" is illustrated by the fact that it takes from 150 to 200 different operations to make a pair of shoes.

Chrysanthemums and gladioli decorated Our Lady of the Rosary Church at Langford when Hedwig Theresa Stradas exchanged vows recently with Bruce Gerald Petrie in a double-ring ceremony. Fr. W. J. O'Brien officiated.

Parents of the principals are Mrs. Sophia Stradas, Cowichan Station, and Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Petrie, 2903 Leigh Road.

Entering the church on the arm of her brother, Frank Stradas, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white satin that had lace insets at neckline of fitted bodice.

Sleeves ended in lily points. A crystal tiara held the full, flowing veil. Bouquet was red roses and white carnations.

Turquoise taffeta gowns with scalloped overlay of white embossed nylon were chosen by the maid of honor, Miss Beverley Jones, and the bridesmaids, the Misses Ruth Kraft, Duncan, and Marlene Ashworth, Langford. A white velvet rose topped their Ernest Skinner was best man and ushers were the couple's brothers, Otto Stradas and Gary Petrie. The organist was Mrs. Axel Olson.

Roland Bellemare proposed the toast at a reception attended by 100 guests, in the Buffalo Club at Langford. Tiny, red rosebuds flanked the three-tier wedding cake on the head table. Gladioli, white chrysanthemums and pink and white streamers decorated the room.

The guests danced to the music of the Happy Wanderers. Leaving on a honeymoon motoring trip to California the bride donned a three-piece Italian suit in olive green shade, complemented with a feathered hat and orange gladioli corsage.

On their return, the newlyweds will make their home at 2854 Leigh Road.

Here's a quick and easy way of making cheese sticks. Cut the crusts from a loaf of bread, then cut the bread into strips about one-half inch wide. Brush the strips on all sides with butter or margarine, then roll them in grated cheese. After sprinkling with caraway seeds, place the bread sticks on a rack in a shallow baking pan. Bake them in a moderate oven, preheated to 375 degrees F., for about 15 minutes or until they're brown.

HE LIKES MUSIC, PAINTING BUT WANTS TO BE A DOCTOR

Eight-year-old John Tucker, 3477 Henderson Road, who has a special liking for music and painting, is the latest Victoria winner in the Ask Andy contest based on the popular Times comic page feature.

He won a set of the World Book Encyclopedia with the question: "Are sand collars made by sea snails?"

The question came to him one day when he was searching for sea snails at Bamberton Beach with his father and came across many sand collars.

John has other interests. "I really like music," he said, "and I like painting too." But while his taste may be artistic, it doesn't mean he wants to become a musician or painter. Actually, he'd like to be a doctor in the Royal Canadian Navy.

A grade three pupil at Uplands school, the prize winner takes an active interest in sports with emphasis on soccer. He is also a member of the Tyros at the Metropolitan United Church.

He has a sister, Allison, 6.

John likes helping her with her school work. He has no trouble teaching her addition and subtraction because arithmetic is one of his strong subjects.

Maybe it is just coincidence—but good musicians are usually good mathematicians.

MUMPS QUARANTINED

Do Dogs Get Mumps?

No. This affliction is almost exclusive to man and certain types of monkeys. Dogs do develop swelling of the salivary glands, but there's no evidence that it is caused by the mumps virus.

CLINIC Q: I have a male Cocker Spaniel about 10 months old. I've had him four months. He growls when we feed him and also growls at us for no apparent reason at all. He barks at trucks and people on the street. We love him so much, but wonder if he will change as he grows older. Will he outgrow his barking and growling?

A—Your dog is still very young and may outgrow this habit of barking and growling. However, it does sound as if he is in need of training. Young dogs tend to be excited and skittish, and they bark at everything that moves. Growling, however, is another matter, especially if he growls at you when feeding him. Reprimand him severely if he continues this growling. Let him know you will not tolerate it. Next time he growls when being fed, take his food away until the next meal. Let him know that growling and eating don't go together. If he doesn't get the message, you would be wise to get another dog that responds more gratefully to your love and attention.

CLINIC Q: Our very young female parakeet has become very listless and won't eat. My mother died recently. Do you think this could be the cause of my bird's listlessness?

A. A., New York City, N.Y.

It's possible that your parakeet is grieving but there's more likelihood that her listlessness and refusal to eat result from some physical ailment. Then, too, listlessness sometimes indicates boredom, which often can be cured quickly with a toy. However, from the symptoms you describe, your parakeet is in greater need of treatment than a treat. Your veterinarian should examine the parakeet.

CLINIC Q: Our five-year-old cat has eczema. Could this be due to an allergic condition or is a faulty diet the cause?

Mrs. A. K., Brooklyn, N.Y.

It is impossible to determine the cause of the eczema without a more detailed description and information as to its location and whether your cat is scratching or licking the irritation. Eczema can be caused by many factors—hormonal changes, diet, parasites, disease and so on. All eczemas are skin conditions—but not all skin conditions are eczemas. In other words, it takes personal examination by an expert to diagnose such conditions. I recommend that you have your cat examined by a veterinarian.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissues on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 30-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of World Book Encyclopedia to John Tucker, age 8, of Victoria, B.C., Canada, for his question:

Are sand collars made by sea snails?

When you see a garden snail, it is a good idea to get your crayons and draw his portrait. Study the curving shell and the graceful gliding of the snail's body. He does not look at all like us, but in his own way he is very handsome. He has thousands of assorted snail cousins living in the ocean, each one more handsome than all the rest.

The seashore is a fine place for treasure hunting. You may find scraps of strange seaweed and piles of pretty pebbles. You might fill a bag with lovely sea shells and you might find a rare sand collar. Many of the most beautiful sea shells are made by sea snails—and the strange sand collar is also made by a sea-dwelling snail.

The sand collar, sure enough, is a sandy mass shaped round like a collar. Perhaps it looks more like a necklace of tightly threaded beads. There may be one or two rows of the tough, horny beads mixed with a mass of sand and jelly. The necklace is open on one side.

The beads are really tough capsules stuffed with tiny snail eggs. The mother who laid the eggs was most likely one of the whelk sea snails. She has a special gland on her foot which she uses to seal her eggs in the sand collar and the task may take her several days. There are thousands of eggs in the sand collar and when the capsules begin to hatch, many of the youngsters will eat each other. Only a few of the vast family will escape their enemies in the sea and live to grow up.

The whelks are some of the largest of the sea snails. Their tough and glossy shells are often very graceful—but many other sea snails are more colorful. And most sea snails are more gentle than the whelks. They feed on weeds and soft foods—but the bold whelks are meat-eaters and hunters. They attack live clams and oysters, scallops and even crabs.

Glossy Shells Well Adorned

Whelks, conches and periwinkles are some of the sea snails that we enjoy eating. A graceful conch sea snail shell, lined with glossy pinks and yellows, may be 10 inches long. Some of the smaller sea snails have glossy shells adorned with jeweled colors. There are more than 200 different little cowrie shells. Like most of the glossy jewel colored shells, they are made by sea snails which live in warm tropical seas.

Many people collect beautiful sea shells, just for fun. But some of the rare and beautiful shells are valuable. Imagine paying $200 for a small shell. Certain sea snail shells were once sold for this price. They look like graceful scrolls spotted like peacocks. We find them off Florida and a fine one may still be worth $10, $20 or even $30.

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to Emmett Cobb, age 14, of Belmont, La., for his question: What causes a water spout?

A water spout is actually a sea-going tornado. A land tornado forms in the turbulent air of a violent cloud, the same type of cloud, we think, which forms a water spout. In both cases, a finger of the cloud dips down to the surface of the earth. It is a swirling funnel of light, ascending winds—and its air works like a vacuum cleaner.

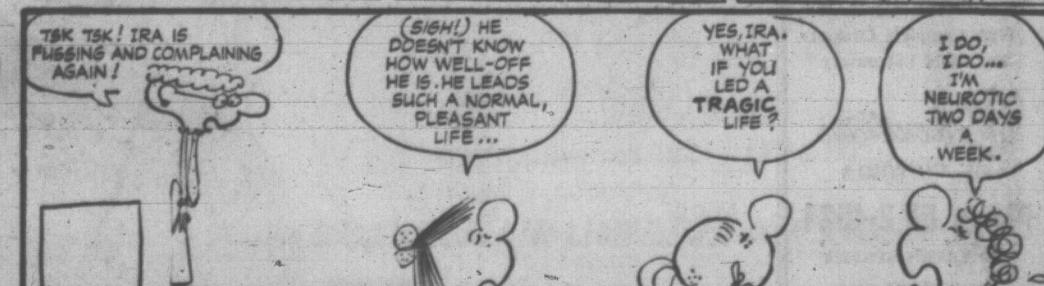

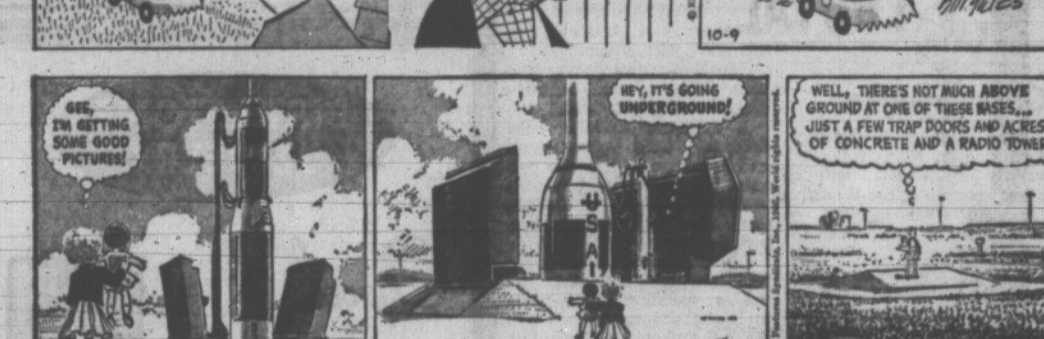

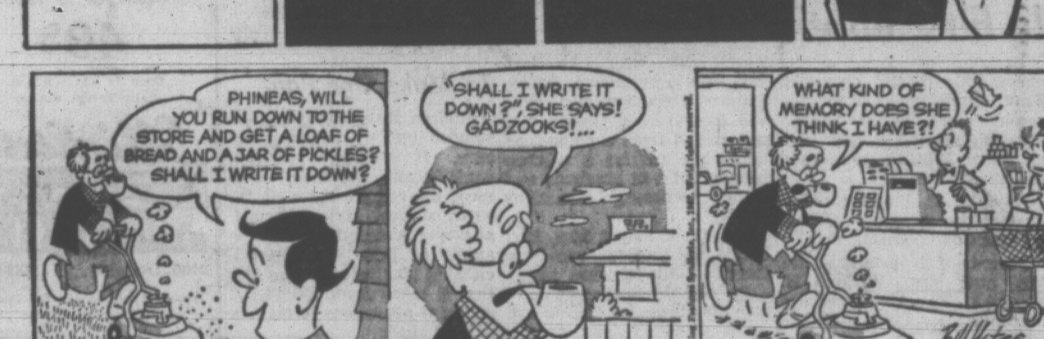

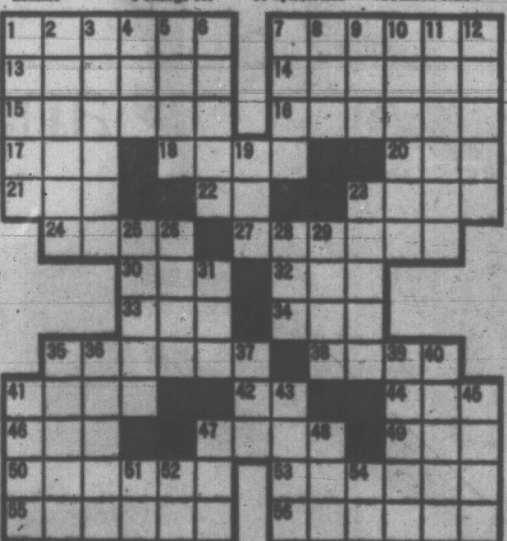

When it touches the surface of the earth, it sucks in material and lifts it aloft. A water spout sucks up a column of water from the sea. A twisting land tornado sucks up dirt and solid objects, crushing buildings and it may be strong enough to move a freight car.

COMEDIAN ARRESTED ON NARCOTICS CHARGE

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Detectives who arrested comedian Lepny Bruce leaving a hobby shop say he dropped a matchbox containing half a gram of heroin when he saw them.

The hobby shop, officers said, was under surveillance because dope had been reported changing hands there.

Bruce, one of the so-called sick comedians, was booked on suspicion of possessing marijuana.

The arrest took place Friday at a North Hollywood shop owned by Robert A. Coogan, the brother of actor Jackie Coogan.

Also jailed on the same booking were the shop owner and another man arrested in the shop.

Bruce, 37, was later freed on $2,625 bail.

Shoes Cripple Young Feet

VANCOUVER (CP) — Present-day shoe fashions are slowly but surely crippling children's feet, says North Vancouver specialist Roy Arnold.

The pointed toe is the villain, Mr. Arnold, retailer of children's shoes and director of the research foundation of Vancouver, said in an interview today.

"There has been a lot of discussion recently about pointed toes in women's shoes, but nothing has been said about children, where the potential hazard to growing feet must surely be greater," he said.

"Well over 50 per cent of all children's shoes on sale today for both boys and girls have short, pointed toes. This applies all the way down to size small five suitable for children between 18 and 20 months.

"It's done in the name of fashion."

Brian Wilson, a third-year arts student, is the new vice-president of the Victoria College students' council.

He won out by 134 votes over another third-year arts man, Mal Potts, in one of the liveliest campaigns held on the campus in years.

Potts, whose tactics won him a letter of reprimand from the students' council for using them "as a political instrument" in furthering his campaign, was trying to capture the job for the second time.

He was elected to the post two years ago, but quit to run his now-defunct "bad music" station, KITT.

ATTACKS COUNCIL

Highlights of the campaign were a series of bitter attacks on the students' council by Potts, folk singing and judo displays to lure students to

WHITE HEATHER SCORES

City Scots Tapped, Clapped, Whooped

By PAT DUFOUR

The tartan curtain went up Monday night in the Royal Theatre when the White Heather Concert Party played to a capacity audience.

On his first tour of North America, Scotland's famed Jimmy Logan captured his audience with a mixture of buffoonery, whimsy and pathos that only a great showman can successfully accomplish.

The dress of the audience was sprinkled with tartans of many clans and when Bobby MacLeod, with superb mastery, played marches, strathspeys and reels on his accordion, his listeners reacted with clapping, tapping of feet and spontaneous whoops.

Soprano Margaret MacDonald had a voice which was strong but lacking in sweetness yet her choice of numbers produced a favorable reaction.

In a brief but spirited appearance, Elaine Ross gave a sample of Scottish dancing.

Outstanding in performance and sensitivity was accompanist Olive Rae. It was good to see her given a solo appearance, playing her own piano selection of Scottish airs, pleasantly "jived up" in the second half of the program.

For the sixth year Jimmy Neil acted as master of ceremonies for the Scottish company on their Victoria date.

Newcomer Dennis Clancy proved that a good tenor is always an asset to any company.

As the curtain-opener to the three-hour program, pipers and drummers of the First Battalion, the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) set the scene with colorful effect. Dancers of the Adeline Duncan school of dancing gave a special tribute to the city's centenary.

Any doubt of the popularity of Jimmy Logan, around whom the evening pivoted, was crushed when, at the end of the finale, one woman shouted, "Come back again next year."

Judging by reaction of the rest of the audience, she spoke for them all.

NO WONDER EVERYONE HAS 'FLU'

LONDON (Reuters) — Influenza germs are so tough, scientists reported today, that they have survived space trips around the world.

A flu germ was put into an air-tight, metal canister and given a piggy-back ride on a Discoverer rocket, the school of aerospace medicine at Brooks Air Force Base in Texas reported in the British magazine Nature.

It did 33 orbits and was in space for four days. It was subjected to nine times the force of gravity and great temperature fluctuations.

It came back unharmed.

The article said the germ's ability to survive increased the need for more study of viruses as a health hazard in future space travel.

LOCAL BRIEFS

A Seattle University nursing student from Victoria—Sister Mary Janita received her cap at special ceremonies in Providence Hospital, Seattle, Sunday afternoon.

Sister Mary is a 1952 graduate of St. Ann's Academy, Victoria.

The capping ceremony marks the nursing student's entrance into the Providence teaching unit where she combines nursing experience with classroom work.

James Morton will speak on "Hymnal Poetry" at a meeting of the Canadian Authors' Association, Victoria branch, in the Douglas Building restaurant Thursday at 8 p.m. Y. H. Stevenson will report on the 1962 Pacific Northwest International Writers' Conference at the University of Washington.

Bookmobile Plan

Operation of a bookmobile service for rural communities between Colwood and Port Renfrew will be explained to-night at 8 during a meeting of the Colwood elementary P.T.A.

A petition of 650 names seeking the service has been presented to Sooke school board and proponents hope a referendum will be put to obtain approval.

The service would be operated by Vancouver Island Regional Library and would cost rate-payers about half of one mill in annual taxes.

SCHIRRA'S PERSONAL ACCOUNT OF SPACE FLIGHT

'Like Drive to Corner Drug Store'

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Walter M. Schirra Jr. says he came back from his "textbook flight" six times around the world with one suggestion for the next U.S. space venture—"just move up its launching date."

And he returned from that flight reluctantly, said the 39-year-old navy commander. "I would liked to have gone for 12 more orbits," he said.

Schirra also said at his press conference Sunday that at one point in his nine-hour 13-minute flight he completely cut himself off from ground control.

To conserve the power supply of his Sigma 7 spacecraft, he said, he threw a switch cutting off the electrical system which would have allowed ground control stations to bring him out of orbit in an emergency.

"From the beginning," he said, "I wanted to turn off the armed squib control box, which box, which means that it is my capsule and no one can bring me back until I put the switch back."

He left it off until Christopher Kraft, Project Mercury flight director, told him "I think you have proved our point, old buddy."

SOUNDS EASY

As he told the story of Wednesday's flight, Schirra made it sound like a drive to the corner drug store.

Woman's Death Unrelated To Crash, Coroner Rules

An inquest will not be held in the death of Isabel MacRae, 74, of 2849 Burdick, who died Saturday in Royal Jubilee Hospital, 20 days after being injured in a traffic accident at Hillside and Cook.

Coroner J. H. Moore said today a post-mortem examination revealed that "cause of death was not related to the accident.

Miss MacRae suffered from shock and a cut to her forehead when admitted to hospital Sept. 16 following a two-car collision.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Miss Jessie Gordon, 72, of the same address, who received serious internal injuries, and is still in Royal Jubilee. Her condition is reported to be good.

Driver of the other car was Rodney A. Holker, 2403 Hamiota.

Police reported that the accident occurred when Miss Gordon was driving east on Hillside and attempted to make a left turn on to Cook Street. Her car collided head-on with the Holker vehicle which was travelling west on Hillside.

Service Award For Former Observatory Chief

Dr. J. A. Pearce, a former director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory in Saanich, will be presented Wednesday with the service award of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada.

He will receive the award at a first of a series of lectures under the auspices of the society. Meetings and lectures will be held at 8 p.m. at the Young Building on the Victoria College campus.

Dr. C. D. Maunsell of the Pacific Naval Laboratory, Esquimalt, will lecture on tides at Wednesday's meeting. Other meetings are scheduled for Nov. 14, Dec. 5, Jan. 9, Feb. 13, March 13 and April 10.

The Victoria centre has about 140 members.

Groos Appointed To Defence Post

Former commander officer of HMCS Naden, Commodore Harold W. W. Groos has been appointed to a national defence staff post in Ottawa.

He is now director of the regular officer training plan at national defence headquarters.

Commodore Groos, 50, was Naden commander for three years, from 1958 to 1961, before being posted to Ottawa as director-general of support facilities.

Born in New Orleans, he came to Victoria at the age of seven and joined the navy as a cadet in 1937.

He succeeds Air Commodore James B. Millward in his new job.

Night Classes

DUNCAN-Cowichan School District No. 65 night classes start tonight with shorthand and women's keep-fit classes at the Cowichan Senior Secondary School.

Twenty-five courses are being offered this year and include vocational, non-vocational and academic classes.

CHANGING NEEDS

New Fields Tested In YW Recreation

By RON SUDLOW
The Young Women's Christian Association division of the YM-YWCA is an ever-changing organization trying to meet the needs of the modern woman in a modern world.

"We are very keen now on experimental work in new fields of recreation," Mrs. Doris E. Watton, assistant managing director of the YWCA said.

"One of our latest projects is a modern dance class which is less formal and more creative than the old one-two types of calisthenics."

"Another experiment this year is our business woman's health and beauty class. We hold our classes at noon and do some posture exercises so the business woman can go back and face the rest of the day at the office relaxed and refreshed," she added.

Each Monday morning there is a special mother and child swim class where the mother is assisted in teaching her preschool age child the fundamentals of swimming.

This United Appeal agency attempts to develop young women morally, spiritually and—physically. It is the largest women's organization in the world with branches in 76 countries. In Canada there are 67 YWCA branches.

"We are a membership organization. Groups of people get together and enjoy themselves learning something and enjoy each other's company as well," Mrs. Watton said.

Another important phase of the YWCA's work is its leadership training classes. There are many prominent community leaders in Victoria today who are graduates of these classes.

"Present classes are too full; our swimming pool is too small—we can't teach all the children that want to learn to swim" is a cry that echoes through the halls of both 'Y' buildings in downtown Victoria.

NEW BUILDING

A committee is now studying the possibilities of a new building which will house both YMCA and YWCA activities.

Another important community service provided by the Victoria YWCA is the "home away from home" for 34 girls now living in the residences. These girls—more than half of them are furthering their education—receive room and board at modest rates.

This service also has a waiting list.

City Man Named To Jaycee Post

Victorian Don Mathison was appointed international relations committee chairman for the B.C. Junior Chamber of Commerce over the weekend.

He joined fellow Victorians Al Wilson and Peter Forward as a provincial committee chairman during a conference of the provincial Jaycee board here.

The meeting also planned election attempt of Will Dowd of Burnaby for a position on the international board of directors at the Jaycee convention in Hong Kong Nov. 4 to 8.

The provincial conference also discussed methods of distributing B.C. government auto litter bags and the provincial tourist hospitality program.

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The UN admitted Algeria as its 109th member Monday. The election was by acclamation of the General Assembly without a vote.

RAIN CANCELS OUT WORLD SERIES GAME

NEW YORK (AP)—The fifth World Series game was postponed today because of rain after a delay of more than an hour. It will be played Wednesday at Yankee Stadium.

The postponement was the first in a series since Oct. 4, 1956.

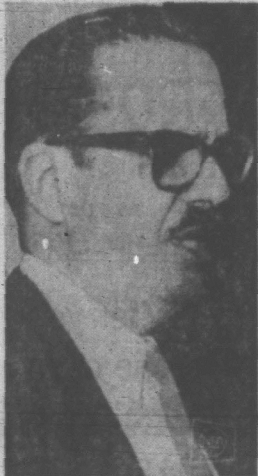

The rainout simply shoved back the schedule of remaining games. After Wednesday's fifth game at New York, there will be an off-day for travel Thursday. The sixth game will be played in San Francisco Friday and the seventh, if necessary, Saturday at San Francisco.

UN Uproar Over Cuba

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—United Nations delegates looked for more fireworks over Cuba in the General Assembly today.

DORTICOS
... blast U.S.

They started Monday with the speech by Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos demanding that the UN condemn as an act of war any U.S. blockade of Cuba. It touched off a clash of demonstrators outside the UN buildings.

At the outset of his speech, Dorticos was heckled by cries of "murderer" and "degenerate" from spectators in the galleries, even though they were closed to the general public. All those admitted held tickets issued to them by UN delegations.

But loud applause, led mainly by Soviet UN employees who attended the session, also punctuated the speech.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, challenged by Dorticos to guarantee by deeds and not words that the United States would not attack Cuba, took the floor briefly.

He said the Cuban leader attacked the United States with "unparalleled calumnies, slanders and misrepresentation."

At a press conference later, he said Dorticos' statements were "neither original nor true."

He stressed that the United States would not attack Cuba but added:

"Let it be equally clear that the United States will not tolerate aggression against any part of this hemisphere." Stevenson said U.S. economic actions against Cuba are not aggressive or warlike.

"It is the most normal and indeed the least violent way in which we can express our strong disapproval of the threats and sword rattling emanating from Cuba."

Dorticos asked the assembly to consider whether or not a U.S. naval blockade of Cuba would amount to an act of war. He asked whether the United States has had the right to take one-sided action "in contempt of the United Nations."

Opponents of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro went into action in the gallery at least five times. At the end of Dorticos' speech pro-Castro demonstrators unfurled a banner reading "Stop Kennedy, Hands Off Cuba."

UN guards hustled out about 20 demonstrators. Then the pro- and anti-Castro demonstrators clashed outside the UN gates. Police arrested 33 persons.

'Middle Road'

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Algerian Premier Ahmed Ben Bella today pledged his country to a policy of non-alignment in the East-West cold war.

In Algeria's first policy declaration as a member of the United Nations, Ben Bella said his government would work for peaceful co-operation among nations.

Three Killed Over Weekend In Island Traffic Crashes

THIS WAS SCENE on the Malahat Highway Sunday afternoon shortly after the third fatal accident which occurred on Vancouver Island during rainy holiday weekend. In this crash Mrs. Mabel Taylor, 2515 Shelbourne, died. She did not appear to be as badly injured as the other passengers and it is thought a heart attack may have been the actual cause of death. Three other passengers were taken to hospital. In other accidents two more persons died and a fourth was critically injured.

Mother of Six Among Victims

Three persons—a young boy, an older woman, and a 31-year-old mother of six children—met violent death on Vancouver Island highways during Thanksgiving weekend.

Dead are:

Mrs. Mabel Gertrude Taylor, 65, of 2515 Shelbourne.

Mrs. Muriel Graham, 31, of 2830 Sooke Road.

Michael Bowker, 13, of Ladysmith.

And the 31-year-old father of two children, Robert W. Boad, 2780 Spencer, lies in a coma critically ill, after a four-car pile-up on Wilkinson Road and the Trans-Canada Highway Monday afternoon.

It was the worst Thanksgiving weekend for highway deaths on Vancouver Island in recent years, according to an official of the motor vehicles branch of the provincial government.

Mrs. Taylor died as she was on her way to visit her daughter, Mrs. J. Frew, in Nanaimo Sunday. The name of the juvenile who drove the car in which she was travelling has not been released.

The small car was in collision with a station wagon panel driven by James R. James, 2681 Capital Heights. RCMP say Mrs. Taylor was not apparently injured by the accident. An autopsy was to be held today.

The accident occurred at 2:15 p.m. near Mill Bay, 11 miles south of Duncan at the intersection of the Trans-Canada Highway and Kilmale Road.

Other passengers in the car were Mrs. Dorothy Cook, Norman Cook and A. H. Cook, all of Victoria. They were taken to hospital and Mrs. Cook was released later. This morning Norman Cook was reported to be in "fairly good" condition and A. H. Cook's condition was reported as "good."

Preliminary inquest is to be held tonight. No charges have been laid by police.

Mrs. Taylor came from England to live in Nanaimo 54 years ago. Formerly Mrs. T. J. Wood, she lived in Nanaimo for 34 years. For the past 20 years she resided in Victoria where she married the late George Taylor who died in 1960.

Michael Bowker, the son of Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Bowker of Ladysmith, was killed as a result of an accident at 10 p.m. Saturday near Ladysmith at the intersection of the Ladysmith Highway and Watts Road.

The car driven by his mother was making a left turn off the Old Chemainus Road when it was in collision with one driven by Fred Ramsey of Chemainus. No charges have been laid.

WIRE BRIEFS

Nurses on Strike

ROME (Reuters)—Nurses, orderlies and other Italian hospital workers, excluding doctors and druggists, today began a two-day strike to press for better working conditions. Skeleton services were maintained for urgent cases.

Typhoon Hits East

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese bureau said Typhoon Emma hit Marcus Island with 121-mile-an-hour winds today and badly damaged its observation post there.

Volcano Threatens

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Nearly 4,000 persons have been evacuated from the area around the volcano Merapi in central Java following two ominous rumblings in the last 10 days. The evacuees will be resettled in Sumatra, the Pia news agency reported.

Tokyo Hoods Raided

TOKYO (AP)—Some 5,000 policemen made an anti-hoodlum sweep in Tokyo and 14 prefectures today. They arrested 943 persons and seized 125 weapons and 400 packs of heroin. The operation was aimed particularly at gangs dealing in narcotics.

Fog Cloaks London

LONDON (AP)—The first heavy fog of the autumn halted shipping in the Thames, slowed rail and highway traffic and closed down London Airport today.

Negotiations Continue

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. state department said today negotiations were continuing but no agreement had been reached so far for release from Cuba of 1,100 prisoners captured in last year's rebel invasion of Cuba.

Suicide Verdict

LONDON (AP)—A coroner's jury held today that convicted spy Dr. Robert Soltan committed suicide by swallowing sleeping pills hidden in a secret pocket of his trousers. (See earlier, page 11)

Riots in Kenya

MOMBASA, Kenya (Reuters)—A police riot squad was called out here today when 500 demonstrators paraded in black suits and armbands in protest against Kenya's failure to achieve independence.

Quebec Tory Sets Off Uproar

OTTAWA (CP)—Marcel Bouronnais (PC, Vaudreuil-Souanges) threw the Commons into an uproar today with an angry denunciation of Quebec's Liberal government and its plan to nationalize 11 power companies.

Snarling to be heard above the interjections of Liberal MPs from Quebec, he said the Lesage government is attempting to form "a Leftist and Socialist empire."

Speaker Marcel Lambert warned Mr. Bouronnais three times against discussing provincial politics, after several Liberal MPs rose on points of order to claim infractions of the rules.

Mr. Bouronnais said that if the Lesage government is re-elected it will transform Quebec Hydro into "the largest network of patronage in North America."

He said Premier F. E. D. Cas- tro of Cuba is the idol of Quebec Resources Minister Rene Levesque, whom he accused of "opening the door to Communist infiltration in this country."

TRUNK MURDERESS

Winnie Ruth Judd, notorious "tiger woman" of the 1930's, escaped from the Arizona State Mental Hospital Monday night, her seventh escape since confinement in 1932. The superintendent of the hospital at Phoenix said the 37-year-old woman, originally sentenced to death for the murder of her two room-mates, escaped through a door left unlocked accidentally.

Don't see why anyone objects t' th' Sons o' Freedom headin' west. Jist let 'em keep headin' west... farther... an' farther... an' farther...
Thing about accidents is—almost ever-one o' 'em happens accidentally.
Normal is whut everybody thinks things used t' be but they never wuz.

Court Decision Delayed On Bid To Block Sons

VANCOUVER (CP)—Decision was reserved in the B.C. Supreme Court on an application by Kent municipality for an injunction that would keep trekking Sons of Freedom Doukhobors outside its boundaries.

Mr. Justice F. Craig Munroe said he would give his judgment and written reasons later.

Today's hearing was a continuation of a hearing that started last Friday when Kent made the application. Mr. Justice Munroe asked them to hear the "freedomites" side of the case.

Joe Podovinnikoff spoke today for the Sons and two women and three men from the marching group, now camped at Hope, also appeared. They were not called on to testify.

"The group at Hope has very little understanding of this bylaw," Mr. Podovinnikoff told the court today. "To them its implications are incomprehensible."

He said the Freedomites were determined to reach Mountain Prison but it had not been established whether they would actually attempt entry into the institution.

"If their brethren have to suffer, they want to be on the spot with them," he said. Mr. Podovinnikoff gave no indication how long the Freedomites would remain at Hope, but "if the wet and cold become intolerable, they may have to march."

QUITS CLASSROOMS TO MIX WITH PUNTERS

Teacher to Become Bookie

KINGSBRIDGE, England (AP)—A 35-year-old school mistress said today she is going to quit the classroom to become a full-fledged bookie. "I've decided to give up teaching and concentrate on bookmaking," said Mrs. Jennifer Rogers.

For the last four years she has been teaching day school and working as a clerk-accountant for a local bookie in the evening.

"I've learned so much about bookmaking," said Mrs. Rogers. "That I've decided to branch out on my own. I shall make an application for a licence tomorrow."

Mrs. Rogers is believed to be the first woman to seek a licence as a full-time bookie.

She explained that holding two jobs and being married was too much for her and that bookmaking should prove more profitable than teaching.

Her husband Anthony has no qualms about having a bookie for a wife.

"She's been backing horses on her own since she was 14," said Rogers, "and she does very well at it. So, I don't mind if she wants to put my shirt on a horse."

Mrs. Rogers has picked out a site for her betting shop. It's in the nearby town of Paignton on Wenner Street.

Centennial Flashback...

THIS DAY IN VICTORIA - 1862

OCTOBER 9

The newsmen which Mr. Heisterman is constructing will be opening soon. It was announced today. It will cater principally to the city's businessmen, and already has obtained 70 subscribers who will pay $2 per month for the privilege of reading newspapers and bulletins from all global points.

Sooke resident Jacob Lowe struck officer Levy when the latter attempted to take him into custody for being drunk and disorderly. Mr. Lowe was fined £3 for the offence today.

New arrivals from Liverpool aboard the "Ashmore" have filed suit against the vessel for alleged shortness of provisions and water on the passage. An offer of £15 each has been made as a compromise by the complainants.

The steamer "Sierra Nevada" will leave today for San Francisco. She will take a large number of passengers, including miners from the Cariboo.

Western Oils Slow Down

NEW YORK (AP)—Selective improvement showed up here and there in a mixed stock market late this afternoon. Trading was slow.

At noon the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 2-1/2 at 217.9.

Radio Corp., helped by a big boost in quarterly earnings, advanced about a point, IBM was up more than 4, Polaroid and Xerox about a point each.

Most Canadian stocks were unchanged or unsold. International Nickel was up 1/4 and Dome Mines and Walker-Goodman down 1/4.

AT MONTREAL prices were generally down on the Montreal and Canadian Exchanges today. Central-Del Rio, last week's spectacular gainer, was the greatest loser. Trading was light.

Among utilities Bell Telephone dropped 1/4 to 48 3/4 and Bell Telephone Rights fell three cents to 79.

AT VANCOUVER trading was light. Bethlehem fell to $2, while Granduc dropped to $3.10, and Kootenay was down .43. Mt. Washington rose to $1.10 while the Peso fell to $1.22. Western Mines was down at $2.18, and B.C. Sugar was up at $25 1/2.

$ EXCHANGE

VICTORIA—Banks buying cheques at 1% premium, notes 7% premium. Selling cheques at 1% premium, notes 7% premium. Buying silver 5%.

MONTREAL (CP)—The U.S. dollar was at a premium of 7% in terms of Canadian funds. The Bank of Montreal reported noon today. Pound sterling was $1.01 1/2.

NEW YORK (CP)—Canadian dollar at 52.50 in terms of U.S. funds. Pound sterling was $1.01 1/2.

The peak number of divorces in Canada was 8,199 in 1947.

TODAY'S GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Irregularity came into the flax market in dull late trading today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Hedging sales were in evidence in flax following the weekend holiday close. Offerings were attributed to United States accounts and export houses were listed as buyers on recessions.

BEST BET—LADY AGGRESSOR

Asylum Sought In Canada By Dynamiter

TORONTO (CP)—Tadeusz Sipinski, who says he has been hunted through five countries since dynamiting a Communist ship in 1949, today sought asylum in Canada.

The man, a native of Poland, says he has spent the last eight months hiding out in Toronto flophouses and missions—ever since the department of citizenship and immigration ordered him deported.

He said he would be shot if he is returned to Poland.

Mr. Sipinski, on the advice of lawyer William Maxwell, gave himself up to immigration officers today.

"I will do everything in my power to see that he is not deported—particularly to Poland—without a full hearing," Mr. Maxwell said in an interview.

Mr. Sipinski said he has already been deported from the United States.

In broken English, the 43-year-old Pole told in an interview a story of intrigue, sabotage, shootings, and ship-jumping.

STARTS IN PRISON

The cloak-and-dagger operations started in a Polish prison where he was sentenced to be shot by a firing squad. The death sentence resulted after he and three other men dynamited a ship in Danzig harbor.

"After nine months in prison my break came," he said. "I was being moved from one prison to another in a jeep. There was an accident. The guard with the tommy gun was pinned and I escaped into the woods."

"Friends smuggled him to Hamburg where he got a ship to Argentina. He had been there a month when four men offered to drive him home from a party. Instead they took him aboard a boat bound for Poland and locked him in a small cabin. As the ship passed through the English Channel, he jumped overboard about 14 miles from Dover."

His captors fired shots at him and he was hit in the neck. He eventually was picked up by an English fishing boat and taken to hospital.

GIVEN ASYLUM

The British home office granted him asylum and he got a job on a British merchant ship.

SLIMMED DOWN to near 129 pounds from 325 is Lorraine, daughter of Hollywood's popular actor William Bendix. She went through the same routine chore once before; but gained back the weight.—(AP Wirephoto.)

THREE KILLED

 Smith General Hospital and then to St. Joseph's Hospital in Victoria where he died at 5 a.m. Sunday.

An inquest will be opened tonight.

LOST CONTROL

Mrs. Graham was killed Saturday night when she apparently lost control of her car and it crashed into a ditch north of Parson's Bridge on the Old Island Highway.

She was pinned under the dashboard and the steering wheel. Rescuers worked frantically for five minutes before freeing her. She was dead on arrival at St. Joseph's Hospital. Light rain was falling at the time.

An inquest will not be held but an inquiry into the accident is to be made. The dead woman's husband, Bruce Graham, who was a passenger in the car, was taken to hospital with a broken jaw and wrist.

Mrs. Graham was the mother of five daughters and a son. Her eldest daughter is in high school and the boy, the youngest child, is two years old. Mr. Graham is a driver for Island Farms Dairy.

CROSSED LINE

The four-car pile-up in which Mr. Boad was hurt occurred at 4:54 p.m. Monday when the westbound car he was driving went out of control and crossed the centre line, colliding with an eastbound vehicle driven by Harold Snider, 317 Huntington Place. (See picture page 12.)

Both cars were then struck by an eastbound car driven by William Steinback of California. His car in turn was struck in the rear by one driven by Henry LeCorre, 903 North Park Street.

Mr. Boad was critically injured about the head. Mr. Snider suffered severe lacerations but was reported this morning to be in "fair" condition at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Diane Sumner, 943 Cowichan, a passenger in Mr. Snider's car, received leg lacerations. Her condition is reported by hospital authorities to be "good."

10 MORE DEATHS

Elsewhere in British Columbia 10 other persons died making a weekend death toll of 13.
 L. K. Hogeboom, 60, and his wife, Emily, 58, of Calgary, were drowned Saturday night when their car plunged off the end of a wooden wharf at Canoe, near Salmon Arm.

Police said they believe the driver mistook the jetty for a highway bridge. The car plunged into 20 feet of water. The bodies were in the car when it was recovered an hour later.

In another double fatality Keith Morris Magnus, 21, of Nakusp, and Armon Hubert Steur, 20, a Canadian soldier visiting his parents at Nakusp, were killed when their sports car rolled over and left the highway near Nakusp Saturday.

'Send Destroyers'

ANCHORAGE (UPI)—Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, has asked President Kennedy to send at least two U.S. destroyers to Alaska waters to halt "an outrageous foreign aggression" of a Russian fishing fleet.

THREE KILLED
 In 1960 in Canada, three policemen were killed as a result of criminal action, while four died accidentally.

CAOQUETTE BATTLES HECKLERS AT VANCOUVER RALLY

No Aid for Either Old Line Party

VANCOUVER (CP)—Social Credit members voted against a Liberal non-confidence motion in the House of Commons because they are not going to choose Pearson over Diefenbaker, deputy national Social Credit leader Real Caouette said Saturday night.

He told a noisy meeting in Burnaby-Coquitlam riding the

WAITING

Earlier, he told a press conference that Social Credit MPs sided with the government because they were waiting to see whether the Diefenbaker government is going to introduce measures aimed at ending Canadian austerity.

At the Burnaby meeting, Mr. Caouette ran an almost constant battle with a large group of hecklers. At one point the meeting stopped when five Social Credit supporters left their seats to argue with one heckler. The heckler shouted: "You are a fascist, Caouette."

STOPPED AGAIN

It took several minutes to calm the meeting, attended by about 750 persons.

Mr. Caouette's speech was stopped again when an elderly man in the front row collapsed in the excitement. The man was revived a few minutes later.

The Quebec party leader said Social Credit MPs are going to fight austerity because Canada is "a land of abundance."

"Our biggest problem today is that we have everything but money," he said. "Money is the key that opens the door of abundance in Canada. It is the essence of freedom with security."

Mr. Caouette criticized New Democratic Party national leader T.C. Douglas—a candidate in the Oct. 22 byelection—for "running away" from Saskatchewan. He said Saskatchewan is the only province where population has dropped.

WEEK ON MARKETS

Oils Catch Takeover Fever

By PETER DUNN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Takeover fever, which reached its height a week ago in the industrial list, infected western oils in stock market action this week.

The flood of takeover rumors among industrials was brought to an abrupt end last week when the prime target—Canadian Oil—announced it was willing to accept an offer from Shell Oil interests.

But in mid-week the oils caught fire, sparked by another swirl of whispers. Central Del Rio climbed almost $2 in two days on unusually heavy turnover. On the week, the stock climbed $1.95 to $9.10. It earlier touched a 1962 peak of $9.15.

Canadian Husky, linked with Central Del Rio by recent takeover rumors, also traded actively but showed little price change. Central officials said they were not contemplating an offer to any company, nor were they expecting one.

Bailey Selburn A also reflected the snowballing excitement. Relatively quiet during the first few sessions, it jumped to life near the week's end and closed at $8.65, ahead $1.15.

INDUSTRIALS RECOVER
Industrials began the week with a sharp drop. The industrial index — a cross-section compiled from 20 key issues — fell four points Monday, but the following day it made up all the losses.

The main list spent the remaining sessions moving aimlessly. Papers were the weakest group.

Canadian Oil highlighted a mixed group of refining oils and pipelines. Again the most active in industrial trader, it climbed to a record $55.75, ahead 75 cents.

Powder Corporation, which holds about one-third of Canadian Oil's outstanding common stock, jumped more than $2. Banks firmed and utilities moved upward on average, but most of the gains were moderate.

Although the golds index dipped only slightly, losses outnumbered gains four to one in the group.

Total volume at Toronto was 17,218,334 shares compared with 16,154,467 last week. Dollar value was $36,944,832 compared with $63,884,366.

On index at Toronto, industrials fell .27 to 530.00, golds .87 to 91.10 and base metals .72 to 175.00. Western oils climbed 5.63 to 115.40.

Volumes at Montreal: Industrials 1,170,018 shares compared with 944,604 last week; mines, 2,293,487 shares compared with 2,558,461.

On index at Montreal, industrials dropped .5 to 92.1, banks 1.8 to 110.0, composite .4 at 95.5 and papers .9 at 90.2. Utilities gained .3 to 102.4.

Housing Building Up
VANCOUVER (CP)—Housing starts and completions here and in B.C. were up in September over the August totals, and continued to maintain the improved level for the year against last year.

NHA loans in Vancouver and the province continued their downward trend, particularly in Vancouver City and Burnaby, where conventional financing is easier to obtain.

BUSINESS VIEWS

Investment Men Expect Heavy Rollover of Bonds

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

There's a strong feeling among investment men that this year's Canada Savings Bond sale will see the heaviest rollover of previous issues ever experienced.

It could hardly be otherwise considering the very considerable advantages to be gained by cashing in previous issues — with the possible exception of the 1959 Series 14 bonds — and buying the new issue with the proceeds.

This year's Series 17 is a 14-year issue yielding 5.11 per cent to maturity. Even in the initial three years the yield is a relatively high 4.5 per cent, goes to 5 per cent for the next three years and then continues to maturity at 5.5 per cent.

Compare this with last year's CSB's which yield only 4.6 to maturity and pay only 4.5 per cent for the next six years and only 5 per cent for the remaining three years.

The 1963 issue outranks the 1962 issue even if only held for nine years, the maturity term of the 1962.

For anyone planning to hold savings bonds beyond the next five years, the Series 12 of 1957 and the Series 15 of 1960 are good bets to convert to this year's issue. The Series 13 of 1958 has such a low yield — only 4.25 per cent annually to maturity — that it should definitely be converted.

Even the Series 14 bonds, issued in 1959, could be exchanged for the new issue by anyone who is interested in the maximum return over a period longer than the six years it has left to run. The Series 14 has a relatively high yield of 4.98 per cent, including a 3 per cent, non-taxable premium, at maturity date in 1968, making total yield for the final year of 8 per cent.

Given the above advantages to trading in old bonds for new, it becomes quite obvious that from the administrative standpoint alone this will be a very expensive Savings Bond loan for the government.

The job of handling what is likely to be a flood of redemptions on top of the normal campaign costs will likely add 50 per cent to what is, in any event, a very expensive method of raising money.

On top of that is the fact that the government is committing itself to paying a premium interest rate over a long term when indications are that the cost of borrowing will be declining somewhat in the not-too-distant future.

However, despite any reservations about this method of borrowing money, there's no doubt that this new CSB is an excellent investment.

A veteran of the original war finance organization, all wartime victory loans and all savings bond campaigns, W. F. ("Bill") Munro is again this year handling the payroll savings campaign for Vancouver Island. Assisting him again this year will be Peter Young. Both are on loan from Hagar Investments Ltd. of Victoria.

Mr. Munro expects this year's payroll savings total will be at least equal to last year and will probably go higher.

D. S. Beatty, president of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada, said in Victoria Friday he believes the money market is showing signs of getting easier.

"The confidence factor has been completely restored to the Canadian economy," he said, "and foreign investment is now returning."

While foreign funds are coming back to Canada, he said, it was Canadian investors who led the way in the restoration of confidence.

Mr. Beatty, president of Burns Bros. and Denton Ltd. of Toronto, said he thought the government is now in a position where it would be well able to look after the foreign exchange situation.

One of the I.D.A.'s main concerns recently, he said, has been the growing number of takeovers of firms in Canada. "I'm ashamed to have to admit that so far we haven't been able to come up with any satisfactory answer to the problem involved," he declared.

One suggestion has been that there should be full disclosure of takeover bids with opportunity for all shareholders to participate on a pro rata basis.

Unfortunately, he pointed out, the full disclosure rule would turn all offers to buy into public auctions. B.A. Oil, for instance, disclosed its intention to get control of Canadian Devonian Oils and found itself pre-empted.

For anyone planning to hold savings bonds beyond the next five years, the Series 12 of 1957 and the Series 15 of 1960 are good bets to convert to this year's issue. The Series 13 of 1958 has such a low yield — only 4.25 per cent annually to maturity — that it should definitely be converted.

Even the Series 14 bonds, issued in 1959, could be exchanged for the new issue by anyone who is interested in the maximum return over a period longer than the six years it has left to run. The Series 14 has a relatively high yield of 4.98 per cent, including a 3 per cent, non-taxable premium, at maturity date in 1968, making total yield for the final year of 8 per cent.

Given the above advantages to trading in old bonds for new, it becomes quite obvious that from the administrative standpoint alone this will be a very expensive Savings Bond loan for the government.

The job of handling what is likely to be a flood of redemptions on top of the normal campaign costs will likely add 50 per cent to what is, in any event, a very expensive method of raising money.

On top of that is the fact that the government is committing itself to paying a premium interest rate over a long term when indications are that the cost of borrowing will be declining somewhat in the not-too-distant future.

However, despite any reservations about this method of borrowing money, there's no doubt that this new CSB is an excellent investment.

A veteran of the original war finance organization, all wartime victory loans and all savings bond campaigns, W. F. ("Bill") Munro is again this year handling the payroll savings campaign for Vancouver Island. Assisting him again this year will be Peter Young. Both are on loan from Hagar Investments Ltd. of Victoria.

Mr. Munro expects this year's payroll savings total will be at least equal to last year and will probably go higher.

D. S. Beatty, president of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada, said in Victoria Friday he believes the money market is showing signs of getting easier.

"The confidence factor has been completely restored to the Canadian economy," he said, "and foreign investment is now returning."

While foreign funds are coming back to Canada, he said, it was Canadian investors who led the way in the restoration of confidence.

Mr. Beatty, president of Burns Bros. and Denton Ltd. of Toronto, said he thought the government is now in a position where it would be well able to look after the foreign exchange situation.

One of the I.D.A.'s main concerns recently, he said, has been the growing number of takeovers of firms in Canada. "I'm ashamed to have to admit that so far we haven't been able to come up with any satisfactory answer to the problem involved," he declared.

One suggestion has been that there should be full disclosure of takeover bids with opportunity for all shareholders to participate on a pro rata basis.

Unfortunately, he pointed out, the full disclosure rule would turn all offers to buy into public auctions. B.A. Oil, for instance, disclosed its intention to get control of Canadian Devonian Oils and found itself pre-empted.

RAILWAY GETS LAYOFF OKAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—An arbitration board today granted the Chicago and North Western Railway a free hand, subject to layoff benefits, in discharging telegraphers whose jobs it finds have become obsolete or unnecessary. The decision was made by arbitrator Sylvester Garrett, with the union dissenting and the railroad concurring.

TODAY'S GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Irregularly came into the flax market in dull late trading today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Hedging sales were in evidence in flax following the weekend holiday close. Offerings were attributed to United States accounts and export houses were listed as buyers on recessions.

QUICKIE STORM CUTS OFF POWER

Damage done by a 40-mile-an-hour wind that whipped in from the southeast Sunday was mostly to the tempers of Gordon Head housewives who found themselves with dinner in the oven and the power snipped off by flying tree limbs at 6:35 p.m.

Other hydro breaks caused by the quickie storm, which at 10:30 a.m. registered a 64 miles per hour gust, were in Oak Bay south of the avenue and in Henderson Road area. Tree casualties were highest in Uplands district, through which the big wind funneled on a forenoon rampage. Streets were littered with minor debris, and a number of heavy branches were ripped from oaks on private property or along the boulevards.

A sequence of weekend showers accounted for three-day precipitation totalling .84 inches.

The parent storm swirling about the Gulf of Alaska hasn't faded away yet, according to weatherman William Mackie, although winds should not exceed 15 or 20 miles per hour.

Surges of moist, cool air will give Victoria a mixed grill of cloud, showers and intermittent sunshine.

FORMER GANGLAND FIGURE IN TOWN WITH A MESSAGE

He Speaks But He Doesn't Talk

By FRANK BUTTER

Silent Bill spoke today. But he didn't talk.

William Semenic got his nickname eight years ago when he refused to identify two hoods who took him for a ride in Stanley Park.

He refused to tell the secrets of Vancouver's narcotics underworld.

Instead he took his secrets to Stony Mountain Penitentiary, where he served seven years of a 10-year term for trafficking in drugs.

Today, Silent Bill gave his first newspaper interview since then in a Victoria hotel room.

He Has Message

He still won't tell about his gangland associates.

Instead he told a story of repentance. A story with a message. A message he hopes will everyone can read in the book he is writing.

The message: "Educate the kids about narcotics."

Now's the time to strike to stamp out addiction, he says.

"The drug trade is down to a trickle in Vancouver—everywhere in North America."

Bill, 59, was once a kingpin in Vancouver's drug trade. He was shot in the groin and left for dead in Stanley Park in 1954.

It was during a war between rival gangs of traffickers.

He said he was unwanted "competition."

He says North America's narcotic underworld is controlled "from the top" at Asbury Park, New Jersey through agents in Toronto.

But stiff new penalties—up to 20 years for trafficking—and active raids have brought the order to stop peddling, he says.

$500 a Crack

Traffic in Toronto is virtually nonexistent; the few drugs available in Vancouver are brought in by sailors for $500 a delivery, he says.

It's a temporary pause, and the traffickers are biding their time to reorganize, probably in another country, Bill predicts.

Anyone who violates the no-peddling order is punished by the big-time bosses.

Three Men Killed

Bill says three men have been killed for this. Latest slaying was that of Albert Acuci, formerly of Toronto, put to "the torch" in a field near Rochester, N.Y., last Nov. 23.

Bill's association with the underworld goes back to Chicago in the roaring twenties.

After the Stanley Park shooting and his conviction, he refused to testify at a preliminary hearing into a charge of his attempted murder against two men; they were released.

In the Manitoba prison, Bill served as librarian.

'Until You Cry'

That was where he started on his book.

"I didn't have much education. But they say the only way to be a writer is to write until you cry. I did."

He got out of prison seven months ago, came to Victoria, where his wife and two children are living, returned to Toronto for a few months, and now is here again.

Now he wants to find "a quiet cottage somewhere" to finish his book, called Restitution. He's been negotiating with a Toronto publishing house.

70 Head Nurses Meeting in City For Two Days

Over 70 head nurses from hospitals throughout B.C. are meeting here today and Wednesday to consider ways of improving patient care through the application of psychosocial principles.

Dr. Esther Lucille Brown, a well-known social anthropologist from the Russell Sage Foundation, New York, will lecture on her latest published report, Newer Dimensions of Patient Care.

The institute, being held at St. Joseph's Hospital, is part of the education program which the Registered Nurses Association of B.C. conducts on behalf of its members.

Dr. Brown recently conducted a similar institute in Vancouver attended by over 160 head nurses.

"It's a story of murder, mayhem, violence, and hatred. It's the story of some of my experiences. But it's fiction. It's set in a Pacific coast city."

'An Empty Life'

Bill won't have anything more to do with the underworld, or, he hopes, the police.

"If somebody from the narcotics underworld walked into this room today, I'd run this down his throat," said Bill, waving his pen.

"The underworld is an empty life."

"Some of these people can cry over a kitten caught in a tree, but they don't care about killing somebody's kid with narcotics."

"Sure there's a lot of illegitimate money to be made, but there's a lot of legitimate money, too. And that's all I want."

The underworld tried to kill Bill in 1954. Will some body try again?

He laughed.

"I can walk about the streets, I'm not afraid. Of course they could try again. But I'm not worried. I'm not an informer. I'm not going to have anything more to do with them."

The only time Bill has ever taken a drug was in hospital.

"Drugs is for horses," he says.

ARTHUR MAYSE

While the Sunday southeaster was huffing and puffing, we jogged down through our wildlands to see how the beach stairs Mr. Yorgenson built for us were taking the weather.

We needn't have worried. Though the slope ran water and the crested gale seas were hurling logs against the foreshore, not even the bottom flight had budged.

Mr. Yorgenson never did succeed in teaching me to open a beer bottle with an axe, but he made a mighty skookum job of those 108 steps.

He entered our lives on a red hot July day. He looked slight, almost frail in his worn denim and old suit coat. Still, his eyes were very blue and steady, and he wore his little white sport cap with a certain air.

I tramped down with him, explaining what we wanted done, and outlining the attendant difficulties. Mr. Yorgenson nodded a time or two, but said nothing. At the foot of our place he shed his jacket and folded it neatly. Then, with the immaculate cap riding level on his head, he vanished into an ocean spray thicket.

He didn't reappear. In fact we didn't see him again that day or the next, and decided Mr. Yorgenson had quite sensibly written off the job as too tough for him.

On the third morning he arrived with the milkman. He had substituted gumboots for his black town shoes, and dangled a single-bit axe which had plainly seen better days. He had not, however, shed the jaunty white cap.

"I got her looked over," said, with the merest flicker of a smile, "I think today we get to work."

I had work of my own to do, and didn't tag along. But the thought of Mr. Yorgenson struggling alone in the nether jungles bothered me. Toward noon, I stuck a bottle of beer in each hip pocket and headed down there.

A mild voice reached up to me from mid-slope.

"Better if you stay on top a minute."

One foot on a fresh-hewn alder stump and the other wedged into the bank, Mr. Yorgenson was testing the breeze with a finger. Satisfied, he began to swing his axe against a wry leaning alder bigger around than his own reedy self.

The chips were the size of pie plates, the smooth-sided undercut deepened magically. In less than a minute, Mr. Yorgenson shifted his stance, and from what should have been an impossible angle, started spraying those monstrous chips again.

The treetop shuddered, the alder toppled with a sigh and a booming crash. Although he didn't indicate the fact by word or look, I knew Mr. Yorgenson had dropped his stick precisely where he wanted it.

I realized also that here was a master axeman.

Naturally, I hung around. After a while Mr. Yorgenson allowed me to fetch my own axe and clear brush. Later, resting in the shade, he uncapped a beer bottle with a dexterous flip of his axe bit. I tried it, and broke the bottle neck.

"A good thing it was not brevin," Mr. Yorgenson told me with one of his rare smiles. "That is Swedish moonshine. It would burn a hole in your pants."

He quenched a morning's thirst in a succession of long swallows, then set his empty bottle behind a log. "This week we clear us a way to the bottom," he said. "Next week we pack in planks. I know where is the deck off a bridge they took out near Sooke. It will make us good steps."

And so it went, for 21 happy if backbreaking days. Mostly I cut brush while Mr. Yorgenson, with sledge and spikes, a borrowed power saw and his wonderful axe,

HISTORY OF CROWN

New Pageant Plan Pushed by Curtis

A pageant on the history of the British Crown, backed by sports events and military shows, should be added to the Victoria Day celebrations, Ald. A. I. Curtis suggested today.

He said an expanded May 24 weekend schedule would become a major tourist attraction and lengthen out the tourist season.

Ald. Curtis, president of Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, who has worked all his life in the tourist field, said the event should be locally produced and in advance of the normal tourist flow.

His plan contradicted a campaign by Ald. Michael Griffin to convince city council it should replace the John B. Rogers Company to operate a professional show in July and August.

Ald. Curtis indicated there was little sense in spending money on events aimed at bringing tourists who already were coming. He also said there was a wealth of local talent and an existing organization to undertake the project.

AROUND MAY 24

"We do not need to worry about July and August," he said. "My feeling is that we should concentrate all our efforts around the May 24th period."

He said a pageant on the British Crown, would be appropriate to the occasion and would be different enough to attract Americans.

It could be backed up with a rounded program of armed forces displays, sporting events and horticultural displays.

"We already have the nucleus in our very hard working Greater Victoria Celebrations Association (which produces the May 24 weekend program) and only need to provide more money to do a first class job," he said.

Ald. Curtis said he was sure transportation companies would help in publicizing the events and probably would arrange tours to the Island in conjunction with it.

LOTS OF TALENT

"I am sure we have a wealth of talent among our own citizens who could put a good show together and could enlist the services of history professors at Victoria College and Royal Roads to prepare a factually correct story for the pageant."

Ald. Curtis said he was sure transportation companies would help in publicizing the events and probably would arrange tours to the Island in conjunction with it.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Donald Edward Tyrell, 907 Forshaw, $40 for careless driving and driver's licence suspended for three months.

Thomas A. McLeod, HMC3 Sussexvale, $40 for careless driving; $25, no driver's licence.

Raymond John Lanheim, HMC3 Beacon Hill, $25, no driver's licence.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

1. Ethel Cleworth and Jack Goldie; 2. Marianne Powell and Bud Waddington; 3. Molly Collins and Bill McConnell; 4. Marge Meachem and Harry Parry; 5. Gwen Humphrys and Cyril Hunter; 6. Maria Coll and Eric Horwood.

Peter Humber, 1435 Westall, a carrier boy for a local newspaper, reported to police that three youths approached him at Cook and Hillside at about 7:20 p.m., Saturday, and robbed him of $40—his collection money for newspapers.

They asked him for the time and snatched the money when he was off guard, he said. They took off in the direction of Bay Street.

Geoffrey Ellis of the Victoria Credit Granters' Association will address a meeting of the group on credit conditions in Great Britain tonight at 6 in the Terra Cotta Room of the Dominion Hotel.

A full-scale public information program on the civic precinct project was mapped out at City Hall today.

A meeting of the special committee organizing the $1,000,000 project decided to use a variety of avenues—including public meetings and press releases—to inform the public of all aspects of the project before a money blylaw vote.

Olive Johnson, president B.C. branch of the Canadian Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament will address a public meeting Wednesday evening at 8 in the cafeteria of the Douglas Building, 600 Douglas Street.

Mrs. Johnson will report on the Moscow and Tokyo Peace Congresses and will show color slides taken in Japan and Russia.

Harold Preston, 1327 Sussex, was fined $50 in the Colwood RCMP court for dangerous driving. The charge arose out of an accident on Four-Mile Hill Friday night when $1,000 damage was caused to the two cars involved.

Henry William Flett, no fixed address, was fined $35 in the same court when he pleaded guilty to careless driving.

League of Roses, "Lancashire," will meet Thursday in the Canadian Legion Hall, 1616 Blanshard Street, at 8 p.m.

The Royal Jubilee Hospital Alumnae Association will hold a bazaar on Wednesday afternoon in the Nurses' Residence. Miss M. Thompson, director of nursing, will open the bazaar at 2 and there will be stalls of home cooking, candy, aprons and novelties. Proceeds will be used to assist student nurses through loans and bursaries.

Central Saanich Reeve R. Gordon Lee said over the weekend he would recommend a water rate reduction at a council meeting tonight.

Reeve Lee said the present rate of $130 a year for 10,000 gallons every two months may be cut in January because system has grown to about 120 subscribers, double the number that signed up when the service began in mid-1961.

Saanich's amalgamation referendum will be subject of a debate Thursday at 8 p.m. in Prospect Lake School. Supporting a merger study will be Reeve Stanley Murphy. His opponent will be Coun. Joseph Casey, Prospect Lake and District Community Association president Brian Hoole will be moderator.

Groups and individuals interested in the restoration and beautification of downtown Victoria have been invited to see a film on the restoration and redecoration of Norwich, England, which will be shown by the city planning department Thursday at 8 p.m. in the city hall council chamber.

The film showing is a follow-up to this year's program initiated by Victoria Chamber of Commerce and the city planning department to encourage an integrated color plan for downtown buildings.

Repainting of City Hall in attractive new colors was part of this "facelifting" program and the plan was also followed by several commercial building owners.

BENNY NICHOLAS MEMORIAL AWARD FOR 'THE BOARDERS'

Racial Prejudice Story Wins $100 Prize for Student

W. T. HOGGARTH
... "prejudice exists here"

A deep feeling against race prejudice inspired a short story called "The Boarders" which has won the annual B. C. Nicholas Memorial award of $100 for William Thomas Hoggarth of 3238 Eldon Place.

The award is presented annually by the Victoria Daily Times in memory of the late B. C. (Benny) Nicholas, famed Times editor and local personality who died here in 1936.

Mr. Hoggarth, aged 20, is a third-year English student at Victoria College. His short story concerns a Hindu family living in an imaginary

Canadian household and was based on his personal observation of racial prejudice in Victoria.

"Such prejudice does exist here," he said, "and I think it is utterly wrong. Why should we think we are superior to other races?"

A quiet reserved man, Mr. Hoggarth has been studying fiction at Victoria College under George Cuomo. He has written some half a dozen short stories during the past year, and entered two of them for the B.C. Nicholas award.

His other entry was entitled "Benny and the Old Man." This was a coincidence, he says, as the story had no reference to Benny Nicholas.

Born and raised in Victoria, Mr. Hoggarth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hoggarth. He received his earlier education at S. J. Willis Junior High and Mount View High School.

"I have not yet decided on a career," he said, "or whether I shall continue writing fiction."

The Times award is made to the student who submits the best piece of "mass media" writing—journalism, poetry, dramatic or a magazine-type article.

The judges this year were Times writers Arthur Mayse and Arthur Stott and Mrs. Ross Napier, correspondence division, department of education.

They gave honorable mention to Julian Reid, a former winner of the award, for his folio of verse, and M. E. Linnell for his short story on a Chinese theme, "First Born."

Youngster Unconscious

Jacqueline Hagel, 1241 Burnside West, is still unconscious in St. Joseph's Hospital as the result of head injuries received in an accident in the 1200 block of Burnside Road Friday night.

She was riding her tricycle and was in collision with a car driven west on Burnside Road by Donald Wayne Andrews, 20, of Aldergrove, B.C.

Since her admission to hospital, her condition has remained unchanged, hospital officials reported.

Wes Morhart of Victoria Monday hung on to his title as the top hill climber in Vancouver Island's motorcycle fraternity.

He clocked a 5.94-second pace in bucking up the rain-soaked course rising 172 feet on the steep west-slope of Mount Douglas to win the Island championship.

He turned in an even faster performance earlier over the same course to win the Victoria Motorcycle Club's closed championship event with a 5.32-second time.

It was the fifth year in a row that he won both events.

A total of 38 competitors, from as far north as Nanaimo, were entered in the VMC's 42nd annual Hill Climb Monday.

Behind Mr. Morhart came Dave Moore, in second place, and Ernie Hills, in third, in the closed club competition.

VICTIMS OF FOUR-CAR PILE-UP at Trans-Canada Highway and Wilkinson Road Monday afternoon are here being removed by Constables Rick Avison and Jack Stone of Saanich police. A west-bound car driven by Robert W. Boad went out of control, crossed centre line and collided with vehicle driven by Harold Snider, 317 Huntington Place. Both cars were then struck by another one and it in turn was struck in rear by a fourth car. Mr. Boad, 31-year-old father of two, is in a coma at St. Joseph's Hospital. Mr. Snider is in "fair" condition in hospital and Diane Sumner, 943 Cowichan, shown being taken from Mr. Snider's car, is in "good" condition with leg injuries and lacerations. (Robin Clarke photo.)

THEATRE RALLY SUNDAY TO LAUNCH HOME DRIVE

United Appeal chairmen will attempt to clean up the canvassing for their respective divisions this week in preparation for the residential canvass which starts Monday.

The residential canvass is the appeal's final effort to make sure that everyone has a chance to help the 23 health and welfare agencies in Greater Victoria.

Through the courtesy of the Odette Theatre a rally will be held there Sunday night to launch the residential canvass.

The fund's total now stands at $115,228—32 per cent of the $360,000 target.

Jackie Parker Reported on Block

CALGARY (CP)—The Herald says in a story from Edmonton that Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Football Conference have decided to trade all-star quarterback Jackie Parker, 30, to the highest bidder during the off-season.

The newspaper says it learned from a reliable source that the Eskimos are not interested in imports. They want good Canadian players and cash, the Herald's source said.

Parker has been with the Eskimos for nine seasons.

GALLERIES NOISY

UN Uproar
Over Cuba

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—United Nations delegates looked for more fireworks over Cuba in the General Assembly today.

They started Monday with the speech by Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos demanding that the UN condemn as an act of war any U.S. blockade of Cuba. It touched off a clash of demonstrators outside the UN building.

At the outset of his speech, Dorticos was heckled by cries of "murderer" and "degenerate" from spectators in the galleries, even though they were closed to the general public. All those admitted held tickets issued to them by UN delegates.

But loud applause, led mainly by Soviet UN employees who attended the session, also punctuated the speech.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, challenged by Dorticos to guarantee by deeds and not words that the United States would not attack Cuba, took the floor briefly.

He said the Cuban leader attacked the United States with "unparalleled calumnies, slanders and misrepresentation."

At a press conference later, he said Dorticos' statements were "neither original nor true."

He stressed that the United States would not attack Cuba but added:

"Let it be equally clear that the United States will not tolerate aggression against any part of this hemisphere."

Stevenson said U.S. economic actions against Cuba are not aggressive or warlike.

"It is the most normal and indeed the least violent way in which we can express our

RAIN CANCELS OUT
WORLD SERIES GAME

NEW YORK (AP)—The fifth World Series game was postponed today because of rain after a delay of more than an hour. It will be played Wednesday at Yankee Stadium.

The postponement was the first in a series since Oct. 4, 1956.

The rainout simply shoved back the schedule of remaining games. After Wednesday's fifth game at New York, there will be an off-day for travel Thursday. The sixth game will be played in San Francisco Friday and the seventh, if necessary, Saturday at San Francisco.

Teacher Switches
To Bookie Business

KINGSBRIDGE, England (AP)—A 25-year-old school mistress said today she is going to quit the classroom to become a full-fledged bookie.

"I've decided to give up teaching and concentrate on bookmaking," said Mrs. Jennifer Rogers.

For the last four years she has been teaching day school and working as a clerk-accountant for a local bookie in the evening.

"I've learned so much about bookmaking," said Mrs. Rogers, "that I've decided to branch out on my own. I shall make an application for a licence tomorrow."

Mrs. Rogers is believed to be the first woman to seek a licence as a full-time bookie.

She explained that holding two jobs and being married was too much for her and that bookmaking should prove more profitable than teaching.

Her husband, Anthony, has no qualms about having a bookie for a wife.

"She's been backing horses on her own since she was 14," said Rogers, "and she does very well at it. So, I don't mind if she wants to put my shirt on a horse."

Mrs. Rogers has picked out a site for her betting shop.

It's in the nearby town of Paignton on Wenner Street.

Tokyo Hoods Raided

TOKYO (AP)—Some 5,000 policemen made an anti-hood sweep in Tokyo and 14 prefectures today. They arrested 943 persons and seized 120 weapons and 400 packs of heroin. The operation was aimed particularly at gangs dealing in narcotics.

Worst Weekend
In Many Years

Three persons—a young boy, an older woman, and a 31-year-old mother of six children—met violent death on Vancouver Island highways during Thanksgiving weekend.

Dead are:

Mrs. Mabel Gertrude Taylor, 65, of 2515 Shelbourne.

Mrs. Muriel Graham, 31, of 2830 Sooke Road.

Michael Bowker, 13, of Ladysmith.

And the 31-year-old father of two children, Robert W. Boad, 2780 Spencer, lies in a coma critically ill, after a four-car pile-up at Wilkinson Road and the Trans-Canada Highway Monday afternoon.

It was the worst Thanksgiving weekend for highway deaths on Vancouver Island in recent years, according to an official of the motor vehicles branch of the provincial government.

Mrs. Taylor died as she was on her way to visit her daughter, Mrs. J. Frew, in Nanaimo Sunday. The name of the juvenile who drove the car in which she was travelling has not been released.

The small car was in collision with a station wagon panel driven by James R. James, 2661 Capital Heights, RCMP say Mrs. Taylor was not apparently injured by the accident. An autopsy was to be held today.

The accident occurred at 2:15 p.m. near Mill Bay, 11 miles south of Duncan at the intersection of the Trans-Canada Highway and Kilmalu road.

Other passengers in the car were Mrs. Dorothy Cook, Norman Cook and A. H. Cook, all of Victoria. They were taken to hospital and Mrs. Cook was released later. This morning Norman Cook was reported to be in "fairly good" condition and A. H. Cook's condition was reported as "good."

A preliminary inquest is to be held tonight. No charges have been laid by police.

Mrs. Taylor came from England to live in Nanaimo 54 years ago. Formerly Mrs. T. J. Wood, she lived in Nanaimo for 34 years. For the past 20 years she resided in Victoria where she married the late George Taylor who died in 1960.

Michael Bowker, the son of Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Bowker of Ladysmith, was killed as a result of an accident at 10 p.m. Saturday near Ladysmith at the intersection of the Ladysmith Highway and Watts Road.

The car driven by his mother was making a left turn off the Old Chetwain Road when it was in collision with one driven by Fred Ramsey of Chetwain. No charges have been laid.

Three young friends of 13-year-old Michael, who were in the car with him, were unhurt. The boy was taken to Ladysmith.

68 DEAD
IN TRAFFIC

By the Canadian Press

At least 68 persons were killed on Canadian roads during the weekend, one of the blackest records for long weekends in recent years.

It was the second worst record for any three-day holiday weekend since 1955. The only holiday weekend with a higher death toll was last month's Labor Day weekend, when 72 persons died on the roads.

Man Held
In Death
Of Soldier

A Work Point soldier is being held in custody by military police pending completion of an investigation into the death Sunday morning of a member of the First Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

Charles Grant, 20, of Cutknife, Sask., died at Naden Hospital at 10:15 a.m. Sunday—about 12 hours after a fight in front of 270 Ontario Street.

HEAD INJURIES

It is understood he received head injuries when he fell on a curb.

City police were late in starting an investigation as military police notified them of the incident at 4:30 a.m., 6½ hours after Grant was admitted to hospital.

An autopsy has been held and the contents of the dead man's stomach sent to Vancouver for analysis.

Coroner J. H. Moore is expected to hold an inquest as soon as police have completed their investigation.

Meredith
Criticizes
Army, NAACP

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—James H. Meredith, Negro student attending the University of Mississippi under federal guard, today criticized the U.S. Army and by implication the officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. (See also Page 7.)

In an interview he sought, Meredith complained the army had inflicted "a dishonor and a disgrace" on Negro soldiers by segregating troops brought into Oxford after the riot that attended his appearance here nine days ago.

His other complaint was against what he called "this inflammatory claim" by some people that he had been "picked, selected or chosen by them to integrate the University of Mississippi."

The president of the Mississippi NAACP, Aaron Henry, was reported earlier as saying Meredith was selected from a list of candidates for the desegregation move. Meredith denied this.

"I have good reason to believe that this and similar accusations have resulted in stronger opposition to me by the students at the university," Meredith said.

"If it were true, I must admit that I would think their opposition would be in some way justified," he said.

Quebec Tory Sets Off Uproar

OTTAWA (CP) — Marcel Bourbonnais (PC, Vaudreuil-Souanges) threw the Commons into an uproar today with an angry denunciation of Quebec's Liberal government and its plan to nationalize 11 power companies.

Shouting to be heard above the interjections of Liberal MPs from Quebec, he said the Lesage government is attempting to form "a Leftist and Socialist empire."

Speaker Marcel Lambert warned Mr. Bourbonnais three times against discussing provincial politics, after several Liberal MPs rose on points of order to claim infractions of the rules.

Mr. Bourbonnais said that if the Lesage government is re-elected it will transform Quebec Hydro into "the largest network of patronage in North America."

He said Premier Fides Castro of Cuba is the idol of Quebec Resources Minister Rene Levesque, whom he accused of "opening the door to Communist infiltration in this country."

TRUNK MURDERESS Winnie Ruth Judd, notorious "tiger woman" of the 1930's, escaped from the Arizona State Mental Hospital Monday night, her seventh escape since confinement in 1932. The superintendent of the hospital at Phoenix said the 37-year-old woman, originally sentenced to death for the murder of her two room-mates, escaped through a door left unlocked accidentally.

An inquest will be opened tonight.

LOST CONTROL
Mrs. Graham was killed Saturday night when she apparently lost control of her car and it crashed into a ditch north of Parson's Bridge on the Old Island Highway.

She was pinned under the dashboard and the steering wheel. Rescuers worked frantically for five minutes before freeing her. She was dead on arrival at St. Joseph's Hospital. Light rain was falling at the time.

An inquest will not be held but an inquiry into the accident is to be made. The dead woman's husband, Bruce Graham, who was a passenger in the car, was taken to hospital with a broken jaw and wrist.

Mrs. Graham was the mother of five daughters and a son. Her eldest daughter is in high school and the boy, the youngest child, is two years old. Mr. Graham is a driver for Island Farms Dairy.

CROSSED LINE
The four-car pile-up in which Mr. Bond was hurt occurred at 4:54 p.m. Monday when the westbound car he was driving went out of control and crossed the centre line, colliding with an eastbound vehicle driven by Harold Snider, 317 Huntington Place. (See picture page 13.)

Both cars were then struck by an eastbound car driven by William Steinback of California. His car in turn was struck in the rear by one driven by

(Times News Services)
OTTAWA — Justice Minister Fleming, former minister of finance, declared in the Commons today the government's exchange protection measures introduced after the June 18 general election by order-in-council were all soundly based on legislation passed previously by Parliament.

He spoke in the Commons throne speech debate in rebuttal to a non-confidence motion moved Friday by Liberal economist Allan J. MacEachen, MP for Inverness-Richmond and special adviser to Opposition Leader Pearson.

The motion, on which the Commons is scheduled to vote tonight, claimed the government's austerity measures amounted to imposition of taxation without parliamentary authority.

The motion is virtually certain to be defeated. Social Credit leader Robert Thompson confirmed today that his party would vote against it, thus "keeping the Conservatives in office."

Mr. Fleming said the government exercised power contained in the Customs Tariff Act and the Financial Administration Act to impose surcharges on imports. It used the "Export and Import Permits Act and the Bretton Woods Agreement Act to limit the entry of duty-free goods brought to Canada by returning tourists.

"On the subject of validity and legality," Mr. Fleming said, "the government proceeded on the highest advice of the law officers of the Crown."

He identified the legal authority as deputy justice minister E.A. Driedger.

RECALLS LIBERAL ACTION
Mr. Fleming contrasted the Conservative government's imposition of the 1962 program with that imposed by the former Liberal government in 1947 to overcome exchange difficulties.

He said the course of the Conservative government had been "clear and lawful," but the former Liberal government had imposed special taxes only on a promise to bring in validating legislation later, and had torn to shreds a promise that the old Foreign Exchange Control Act would be used only to control movement of capital.

"The taxes then imposed... were clearly illegal and were collected for weeks and months before they were validated by retroactive legislation."

The government saw no need now to introduce legislation to cover the program introduced on June 24 this year.

THREE KILLED
Henry LeCorre, 903 North Park Street.

Mr. Bond was critically injured about the head. Mr. Snider suffered severe lacerations but was reported this morning to be in "fair" condition at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Diane Sumner, 943 Cowichan, a passenger in Mr. Snider's car, received leg lacerations. Her condition is reported by hospital authorities to be "good."

10 MORE DEATHS
Elsewhere in British Columbia 10 other persons died making a weekend death toll of 13.

L. K. Hogeboom, 60, and his wife, Emily, 58, of Calgary, were drowned Saturday night when their car plunged off the end of a wooden wharf at Canoe, near Salmon Arm.

Police said they believe the driver mistook the jetty for a highway bridge. The car plunged into 20 feet of water. The bodies were in the car when it was recovered an hour later.

In another double fatality, Keith Morris Magnus, 21, of Nakusp, and Armon Hubert Steur, 20, a Canadian soldier visiting his parents at Nakusp, were killed when their sports car rolled over and left the highway near Nakusp Saturday.

Court Decision Delayed On Bid To Block Sons

VANCOUVER (CP) — Decision was reserved in the B.C. Supreme Court on an application by Kent municipality for an injunction that would keep trekking Sons of Freedom Doukhobors outside its boundaries.

Mr. Justice F. Craig Munroe said he would give his judgment and written reasons later.

Today's hearing was a continuation of a hearing that started last Friday, when Kent made the application. Mr. Justice Munroe asked them to hear the Freedomites' side of the case.

Joe Podovnikoff spoke today for the Sons and two women and three men from the marching group, now camped at Hope, also appeared. They were not called on to testify.

"The group at Hope has very little understanding of this bylaw," Mr. Podovnikoff told the court today. "To them its implications are incomprehensible."

He said the Freedomites were determined to reach Mountain Prison but it had not been established whether they would actually attempt entry into the institution.

"If their brethren have to suffer, they want to be on the cross with them," he said.

Mr. Podovnikoff gave no indication how long the Freedomites would remain at Hope, but "if the wet and cold become intolerable, they may have to march."

CAOQUETTE BATTLES HECKLERS AT VANCOUVER RALLY

No Aid for Either Old Line Party

VANCOUVER (CP) — Social Credit members voted against a Liberal non-confidence motion in the House of Commons because they are not going to choose Pearson over Diefenbaker, deputy national Social Credit leader Real Caouette said Saturday night.

He told a noisy meeting in Burnaby-Coquitlam riding the

Lesage Accepts Challenge
QUEBEC (AP) — Premier Lesage has accepted Union Nationale Leader Daniel Johnson's challenge to a province-wide television debate during the campaign for the Nov. 14 provincial general election.

Meanwhile, the opposition leader charged the real reason why the Liberals called the election was because of "Quebec's financial mess."

Premier Lesage officially opened the Liberal election campaign Sunday in Shawinigan, home of the largest of 11 privately-owned hydro-electric companies the party proposes to expropriate.

He said the television debate will centre on the "issues at stake—public ownership of electricity and the economic emancipation of French-Canadians."

Mr. Johnson spoke at Acton Vale in his home constituency of Bagot.

"This is not an election of nationalization but an election of taxation," he said. "I challenge Mr. Lesage to produce the financial statements he is deliberately hiding until after the elections."

"old line" parties are both tied to "money interests" and there is little to choose between them.

WAITING
Earlier, he told a press conference that Social Credit MPs sided with the government because they were waiting to see whether the Diefenbaker government is going to introduce measures aimed at ending Canadian austerity.

At the Burnaby meeting, Mr. Caouette ran an almost constant battle with a large group of hecklers. At one point the meeting stopped when five Social supporters left their seats to argue with one heckler. The heckler shouted: "You are a fascist, Caouette."

STOPPED AGAIN
It took several minutes to calm the meeting, attended by about 750 persons.

Mr. Caouette's speech was stopped again when an elderly man in the front row collapsed in the excitement. The man was revived a few minutes later.

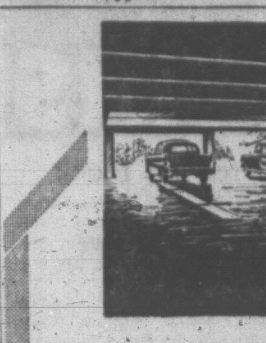

The Quebec party leader said Social Credit MPs are going to fight austerity because Canada is "a land of abundance."

"Our biggest problem today is that we have everything, but money," he said. "Money is the key that opens the door of abundance in Canada. It is the essence of freedom with security."

Mr. Caouette criticized New Democratic Party national leader T.C. Douglas—a candidate in the Oct. 22 byelection—for "running away" from Saskatchewan. He said Saskatchewan is the only province where population has dropped.
